It is a truism that “no one can accurately foresee the future.” However, no one can deny it is crucial that we look ahead with insightful considerations and expectations. It is neither good stewardship nor prudent if members together do not consider long-term strategies and forecasting when expanding P.E.O.‘s vision to meet the realities of today and tomorrow’s world for women.

Societal indicators point to trends that are comprehensive, continuing and/or upcoming. Pragmatically considering these variations and changes will assist us in making applicable choices. Some indicators are subtle influences gaining momentum over time; others are part of constant media bombardment; most have components that are both positive and negative. If you devoted some “real time” to compiling a list of facts that will influence P.E.O. in the next 10 years, what would you include?

What external societal forces are having the most effect on your chapter’s future? Even if we wish it weren’t so, has your chapter accepted cultural trends that are today’s reality? Ever increasing use of technology, shifting demographics, an exploding choice of viable options for discretionary time, complex economic demands for average households, transient lifestyles for all ages/stages: all these might head a prioritized list of challenges to be reckoned with…How is your local chapter collectively responding?

Those of us pledged with responsibilities for International Chapter also are studying the current and projected future status for our beloved sisterhood.

In one measure of calculation, your executive board will soon be receiving a demographics research project to share with state, provincial and district leadership. This data, prepared by P.E.O. volunteers who are experts in this field, will assist in targeted programming for sustainability and growth.

On a related note for our tangible assets and resources, experienced staff led by our very capable Chief Executive Officer Anne Pettygrove, as well as P.E.O.‘s with excellent professional credentials, have developed a continuity strategy for business and administrative functions regarding reasonable preparedness for unforeseen events.

Organizational opportunities must offer all aspects of sisterhood wisely packaged with timeless relevancy and respected commonality. The challenge is to preserve our foundation principles and heritage but not stagnate with process. There are definitely tensions and differences within members’ viewpoints on how to engage and accomplish this. What significant trends will continue to impact chapter life? Are we seeing only what we are looking for? What are habits? What are perceptions? What are assumptions that may or may not be fulfilled? We cannot limit possibilities by just remembering past successes. We cannot blunt reality. We ponder possible impending steps with mixed thoughts…This is healthy. Discussion for valid improvement that encourages the exchange of ideas is an incremental focus to achieve consensus and cooperation. Actions with evaluation are next.

P.E.O.‘s are an optimistic lot! From the beginning, we have always affirmed a substantive role for women in all facets of living. P.E.O.‘s standards are set high—we know we impact our neighborhoods, our communities and our world. Yes, sisters stand tall and firm as purposeful indicators of the power of momentous influence and leadership. Therefore with confident faith in the future, P.E.O.‘s must continue the aim to be that pertinent endearing oasis in the lives and times of women.

Thank you to state, provincial and district (s/p/d) officers, committees and appointments completing 2010-11 service in conventions this spring. Your diligence, flexibility and dedicated leadership carefully launched our streamlined s/p/d structure. P.E.O. sincerely appreciates your loyal commitment.

Forward!

Elizabeth E. Garrels,
President, International Chapter

• Change is constant.
• Is your chapter working on at least one new strategy, activity, event or emphasis this year?
• Are these focused to offer strength, vigor and quality of experience?
• Thank you!

P.E.O. (Philanthropic Educational Organization) is passionate about its mission:

promoting educational opportunities for women. Our sisterhood proudly makes a difference in women’s lives with six philanthropies that include ownership of a two-year women’s college, Cottey College, and five programs that provide higher educational assistance: P.E.O. Educational Loan Fund, P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship Fund, P.E.O. Program for Continuing Education, P.E.O. Scholar Awards and P.E.O. STAR Scholarship. P.E.O. is headquartered in Des Moines, Iowa.

P.E.O. Educational Loan Fund
Educational Loan Fund (ELF) is a revolving loan fund established in 1907 to lend money to worthy women students to assist them in securing a higher education.

P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship
P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship (IPS) Fund was established in 1949 to provide scholarships for international women students to pursue graduate study in the United States and Canada.

P.E.O. Program for Continuing Education
P.E.O. Program for Continuing Education (PCE) was established in 1973 to provide need-based grants to women in the United States and Canada whose education has been interrupted and who find it necessary to return to school to support themselves and/or their families.

P.E.O. Scholar Awards
P.E.O. Scholar Awards (PSA) was established in 1991 to provide substantial merit-based awards for women of the United States and Canada who are either pursuing a doctoral level degree or are engaged in postdoctoral research at an accredited college, university or institution.

P.E.O. STAR Scholarship
The P.E.O. STAR Scholarship was established in 2009 to provide scholarships for exceptional high school senior women to attend an accredited postsecondary educational institution in the United States or Canada in the next academic year.

Cottey College
Cottey College is a fully accredited liberal arts college for women in Nevada, Missouri, owned and operated by the P.E.O. Sisterhood since 1927.

Individual donors may make tax-deductible gifts to the above mentioned projects or through the P.E.O. Foundation. Checks should be made payable to the project or the P.E.O. Foundation and sent directly to the P.E.O. Executive Office. Donations may also be made online through the website peointernational.org. Look for the “Giving Opportunities” link on the home page.

P.E.O. is a philanthropic organization where women celebrate the advancement of women; educate women through scholarships, grants, awards, loans and stewardship of Cottey College; and motivate women to achieve their highest aspirations.

P.E.O., iPads and Preacceptance Counseling

On the evening of January 10, I sat down at my desk to get ready for the next day. I was excited that I was going to meet two women the next morning and take them through our Preacceptance Counseling. As President of Chapter E, Charlotte, North Carolina, this is a favorite job of mine. I get to spend one-on-one time with some terrific women and get to hear their stories of how they came to be invited into our chapter.

As I looked through the handout that we have used in the past for preacceptance counseling, I realized that it needed to be updated. I ordinarily would have done this but I was somewhat pressed for time. The thought occurred to me that surely the P.E.O. website had something that I could use. So, I logged on and accessed the Membership Tool Box. I found the new PowerPoint presentation titled “P.E.O. Academy—Preacceptance.” After reviewing it, I knew that this was exactly what I needed to use to educate these two women. The only challenge I had was how to use this PowerPoint presentation. It would be great on a computer display, but would take an awful lot of ink if I were to print a copy (or two or three) to use at the local eatery where we were going to meet. So, I called upon my techy husband Steve and asked if I could use a PowerPoint presentation on the new iPad I got for Christmas. He assured me that it was quite simple. After an almost instantaneous download of an iPad application called “GoodReader” and a download of the P.E.O. presentation, I was in business. How exciting it would be to show up with my iPad and take the women through this presentation. The cover for my iPad can act as an easel and the touch screen of the iPad made scrolling through the presentation a breeze.

Accompanied by two current sisters, both past presidents of Chapter E, I arrived even more excited than usual. We all sat down with our coffee and pastries and had a wonderful time getting to know each other and sharing P.E.O. I do have to say that I impressed not only the two soon-to-be sisters and the two current sisters, but I also impressed myself. The presentation is so thorough. Yes, we should have a handout format in Word or PDF, but this was a cool, techy 21st century approach.

Thank you P.E.O. for such a great presentation in a format that made P.E.O. look like it belongs in the 21st century.

IPS in Action

I have always been impressed by the goals of the P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship Fund but have often wondered if those goals are ever met. Last week, I had just finished reading the January-February issue of The Record when my son, Pete, called. He had spent the weekend volunteering for the Wild and Scenic Film Festival held in Nevada City, California. He had been acting as stage manager for a documentary about a Pacific Island and wanted to tell me how wonderful it was and how well it had been received. I said, “Was it called ‘There Once Was an Island’ filmed by Briar March of New Zealand?” He said, “Yes it was, but how did you know?” I told him that I had just read about it in The P.E.O. Record and that Briar was a recipient of an IPS scholarship from P.E.O. Pete was as excited as I and went on to tell me about the documentary and that it had received an honorable mention award. It is the story of how climate change is affecting the people and culture of the Atoll islands in the Pacific. Now I understand how our scholarships are helping talented young women excel in their fields of study and have an incentive to work harder to support our P.E.O. projects.

Slate of Officers for Election to the Executive Board of International Chapter 2011-2013

The Nominating Committee of International Chapter met March 24-27, 2011, to select a slate of nominees for the 2011-2013 biennium as directed in the Constitution, Part I, Article V, Section 4. The following slate of nominees was selected by majority vote of the committee for presentation at the Convention of International Chapter in Saint Louis, Missouri, September 29, 30 and October 1, 2011:

President
Susan Reese Sellers, Past President, Texas State Chapter

First Vice President
Maria Baseggio, Past President, Pennsylvania State Chapter

Second Vice President
Beth Ledbetter, Past President, Tennessee State Chapter

Organizer
Sue Baker, Past President, Ohio State Chapter

Recording Secretary
Brenda Atchison, Past President, California State Chapter

Brenda J. Atchison

Brenda Atchison, Past President of California State Chapter, is the Nominee for the office of Recording Secretary of International Chapter.

Currently a member of Chapter RI, San Anselmo, California, Brenda was initiated into Chapter AI, Twin Falls, Idaho, in 1974. She has also been a member of Chapter B, Blackfoot, Idaho. Brenda was General Chairman of the 1994 convention of California State Chapter and was elected to the state executive board at that convention, serving in all offices. She was president of California State Chapter 2000-2001.

Brenda was appointed to the Board of Trustees for the P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship Fund in 2001 and served as chairman of the board in the 2005-2007 biennium. She served as General Chairman of the Convention Planning Board for the 2009 Convention of International Chapter held in San Diego, California.

Brenda and her husband, Jim, have two daughters, Sarah and Katy, both of whom are Cottey College alums, members of Chapter RI, California, and sixth-generation P.E.O.s. Brenda’s mother, Betty Bonnett, is a member of Chapter AI, Twin Falls, Idaho, and is a past president of Idaho State Chapter.

Graduating summa cum laude with a bachelor of music in vocal music education from the University of Idaho in Moscow, Brenda graduated from Dominican University of California with a master of business administration in strategic leadership in 2004. Jim and Brenda lived in San Rafael, California, since 1985 and recently moved to the Atchison family home in Pittsburg, California. For 12 years, Jim served on the planning commission for the city of San Rafael. He is a past district governor of Lions International. The Atchisons own a personnel firm with an emphasis on recruiting healthcare and medical information management technology professionals nationwide.

Jim and Brenda have had a life-long love of music and are members of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael, where they are active as deacon and elder respectively and serve in the musical ministry.

The summer is spent with good books, fishing rods, knitting projects and their Brittany spaniel at the family cabin outside of West Yellowstone, Montana.

Mark Your Calendars!

As your chapter yearbook committee begins program planning, please consider including opportunities for these organization-wide membership activities:

October 2011—“Let’s Go Find the Others” month: Who do you know who might make a good P.E.O.? Introduce them to your chapter sisters this month.

December 2011—Attendance challenge: Just for fun, designate one meeting to encourage as many members as possible to attend.

March 2012—Introduce Your Daughters to P.E.O. month: Whether our daughters are 5 or 55, find ways to introduce them to P.E.O. culture, philanthropies and chapter sisters.

Information regarding each activity will be available online in the Membership Tool Box, in upcoming issues of The Record, and emailed to you from your regional membership representative.
In the years between 1869 and 1907, the P.E.O. Sisterhood grew from seven sisters in a college sorority chapter to a community sisterhood that expanded to Bellingham, Washington. By 1911, the first Canadian chapter was organized in Vancouver, British Columbia.

Each provincial chapter has a unique history, beginning with the dedication of a few extraordinary women, and strengthened over the years through provincial chapter mergers. Canadian chapters are fewer than U.S. chapters and usually further apart, yet common bonds have made P.E.O. a vital presence in Canada for 100 years.

British Columbia Provincial Chapter—38 chapters and 820 members

The P.E.O. sister who blazed the trail to Canada was Bertha Clarke. Bertha had been invited to join Chapter F in Bellingham, Washington, just before her husband was transferred to Vancouver, British Columbia. Bertha chose the charter list, and Chapter F sponsored the first chapter outside the United States. On August 28, 1911, Chapter A, Vancouver, was organized. On the day of the organization, the supplies did not arrive until noon.

Bertha, along with Edith Prouty from Supreme Chapter, somehow convinced customs officials not to open the packages! With only one chapter in the province, some members had great distances to travel to meetings. One new initiate to Chapter A, who took the streetcar into Vancouver to meetings, was met with a pleasant surprise on her way to one meeting. The hostess had placed marguerites from the streetcar stop to her doorstep so her sister would not get lost! Decades later, in 1983, Chapter A was in decline. In a beautiful gesture, members of Chapter AG transferred to Chapter A, giving it new vitality. On June 19, 1925, British Columbia gained provincial chapter status. In 1941, Victoria hosted the Convention of Supreme Chapter (now International Chapter), and Mabel Scurrah, convention chair and president of British Columbia Provincial Chapter, was elected to the board of Supreme Chapter as corresponding secretary—all at the same convention! In 1953, when British Columbia hosted the Convention of Supreme Chapter in Vancouver, Mabel was president of Supreme Chapter—the only Canadian to hold this office to date. Vancouver hosted again in 2005, with the support of P.E.O.s from surrounding states and provinces.

Ontario-Québec Provincial Chapter—13 chapters and 353 members

Chapter A, Ontario could also be called a descendant of Bertha Clarke. Bertha’s niece, Rae Welsh, was teaching in Toronto, Ontario, and joined Eva McDuffee in 1934 to organize Chapter A. On June 24, 1955, Ruth Rippey organized Ontario Provincial Chapter. Provincial convention was dedicated to Eva that year, in celebration of her bringing P.E.O. to Ontario. Three chapters were organized in Québec, all in Montréal: Chapter A on November 26, 1946; Chapter B on May 11, 1954; and Chapter C on May 11, 1965. Twenty years later, Ontario Provincial Chapter and members of the Québec chapters met to discuss a merger, an idea that represented uncharted waters to the P.E.O Sisterhood. Even so, Supreme Chapter was supportive, and Ontario-Québec Provincial Chapter was organized on May 9, 1987. Helen Gladstone, who was originally a Manitoba P.E.O., became the first president of the newly merged provinces. Other mergers of provincial or state chapters have occurred in the best interest of the existing membership and of growing P.E.O. In 2009, Alberta and Saskatchewan merged to form today’s Alberta-Saskatchewan Provincial Chapter. That left another vast area of Ontario bordering on Manitoba with no chapters but with several towns that could support P.E.O. In 2009, Ontario-Québec ceded that area to the Manitoba Provincial Chapter to form the Manitoba-Northwest Ontario Provincial Chapter.

Alberta-Saskatchewan Provincial Chapter—20 chapters and 445 members

Alberta’s P.E.O. history began when Laura Storms Knapp came to Edmonton on November 9, 1944, to form Chapter A, with Bertha Greer as sponsor. Bertha was a friend of Mabel Scurrah in Victoria, British Columbia, and Mabel came for the organization of Chapter A, Edmonton at the magnificent Hotel MacDonald. Many P.E.O. events occurred at this hotel during those early years. It was common for organizers of Supreme Chapter to be honored at a lunch at the now historic hotel. In those days, P.E.O. events were announced in the newspaper, with the added excitement of visiting dignitaries. President Bertha Duncan Lipsey received the provincial charter at the 46th Convention of Supreme Chapter in 1963. Chapter A, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, was organized March 12, 1947 by Mabel Scurrah, and Chapter C, Regina, was organized on May 14, 1969. Chapter D, Saskatoon, was organized on March 19, 2005, by Elizabeth Garrels, with excited past presidents and board members from other provinces in attendance. In March 2008, International Chapter President Barbara Andes met to discuss the merger of Alberta and Saskatchewan, and May 2009 saw the first Convention of Alberta-Saskatchewan Provincial Chapter.

Manitoba-Northwest Ontario Provincial Chapter—18 chapters and 466 members

P.E.O. began in Manitoba when May Blackert, who had moved from Iowa to Selkirk, Manitoba, had a visit from her childhood friend, Mary Cory, a member of Chapter AT in Spencer, Iowa. The two talked about P.E.O., and Chapter AT granted consent for May to select a charter list, resulting in Chapter A, Selkirk. Supreme Organizer Zora Knight organized the first Canadian chapter outside British Columbia on September 21, 1926, with May as president. After steady chapter growth, Manitoba Provincial Chapter was organized in Selkirk on June 22 and 23, 1951; the first provincial president was Evelyn Simpson. Manitoba proudly hosted the Convention of International Chapter in 1985, and as was said at convention, “Never before was an International Convention hosted by so few.”

Beyond the Borders

The contribution of the Canadian chapters to the P.E.O. Sisterhood has a longstanding tradition. Several Canadian P.E.O.s have served on International committees, and one of the first P.E.O. Scholar Award recipients was Ida Tjosvold from Chapter F, Calgary, Alberta. The Canadian Room at Cottey College is endowed by the Canadian chapters. A Canadian flag now flies at the P.E.O. Executive Office in Des Moines, Iowa, a gift from all Canadian chapters in 1985.

The P.E.O. scene has changed over the years, but the growth of P.E.O. in Canada can be credited entirely to the intensity of purpose of those first members. Today we can all be proud of the history of P.E.O. and celebrate 100 years in Canada with a continued vision of growth.

My Daughter, My Sister
How one local chapter makes a tradition of initiating their daughters

by Debbie Clason, Coordinator of Membership Development

On a sunlit Indiana porch last May, six college daughters of Chapter AL, Shelbyville, Indiana, members were initiated into the P.E.O. Sisterhood. The event was a happy one for the aunts, mothers and grandmothers who attended the initiation as well as a labor of love more than three years in the making.

Liz Wheeler, member of Chapter AL and mother of initiate Sarah Wheeler, organized the daughters’ initiations. “All of the mothers are very close,” she said. “We started talking with each other about proposing our daughters’ names the Christmas before. Once their invitations were extended and they had accepted, we coordinated the initiations to occur the week before they began their summer jobs.”

After the names were proposed, each sponsor stood up and talked about her candidate, including where she was attending school. Three of the girls attend Purdue University, one attends Ball State University, one attends Butler University and one is a graduate law student at the University of Akron, Ohio.

Liz said Shelbyville is a small town where everyone knows everyone else so the girls were well known among the chapter members. “Our girls grew up surrounded by P.E.O.,” she said. “They would come home from school just about the time the meetings were over. Many chapter members had attended our girls’ athletic events and other school activities.”

Liz’s daughter, Sarah, is a fourth generation P.E.O. Liz served as president for the initiation and her mother, Carolyn English, took the picture featured in this article. Sarah’s great-grandmother, Karlene English, was an active member of Chapter AL until her death at age 107.

Members understand that by initiating these young women into P.E.O., they have introduced their daughters to a world of friendship, leadership development and philanthropy that will last a lifetime.

In fact, most of the new initiates enjoy a rich P.E.O. heritage. Rebecca and Emily Borchert are third generation members of Chapter AL. Melanie Clark is a third generation P.E.O., too. Her mother, Shari Clark, served as treasurer for the initiation. Melanie’s grandmother, Susie Clark, Today's young women, known by generational researchers as the Millennial generation, are hard working, socially conscious, multi-taskers who are loyal to their organizations. They make great P.E.O. sisters! If you are fortunate enough to initiate some Millennials into your chapter, make an effort to nurture them if they attend college away from home.

Two documents in the Membership Tool Box can help you. If your chapter has collegiate members who are attending school away from home, download the Collegiate Connections Guide for Local Chapters with Collegiate Members. This guide gives ideas on how to nurture your young members while they are away from their home chapters. Also, be sure to complete the Introduction of a Collegiate Member form and send it to local chapters located in her at-school community. Although collegiate members often have demanding schedules, just knowing there's a chapter of P.E.O. sisters close by can be a comfort—both to the home chapter as well as to the student herself.

Finally, if your chapter meets in a college town, be receptive to those chapters who introduce you to their studious members by way of the Introduction of a Collegiate Member form. Download the Collegiate Connections Guide for Local Chapters in a College Town for guidelines that will help you care for collegiate members who are attending school in your community.

“It’s tradition, I suppose,” Liz said. “As a result, the majority of them have been initiated into a P.E.O. chapter somewhere.” Five of the six new initiates are juniors this year so they won’t be attending Chapter AL meetings on a regular basis for awhile. Still, members understand that by initiating these young women into P.E.O., they have introduced their daughters to a world of friendship, leadership development and philanthropy that will last a lifetime.

“My daughter looks forward to attending chapter meetings whenever she’s home on break,” Liz Wheeler says. “She knows P.E.O. will be a great way to meet people wherever she lives after she graduates.”

Introducing Our Daughters to P.E.O.

To start a conversation with your chapter about introducing daughters and granddaughters to your sisters, refer to Introducing Our Daughters to P.E.O. in the Membership Tool Box. This document gives you a simple process for initiating discussion about the women in your immediate family who might make good P.E.O. sisters.

Very simply, the conversation involves making an announcement during the membership committee report that you will be talking about eligibility information regarding daughters of chapter members at the next meeting. Then, during New Business at the next meeting, ask how many members have daughters living at home who are 18 years of age or older and currently not members. Continue with a discussion on how to get to know them better.

Also, ask how many have daughters (or granddaughters) living in another city or state who are currently not members. Ask if it’s appropriate to send Introduction of a Woman Who is Not a P.E.O. forms for each of them.

By definition, young women 18-28 years of age are part of the Millennial Generation. Research tells us they are optimistic, technologically savvy, hard working individuals who believe in volunteerism and serving their community. They enjoy a sense of play and fun in the volunteer arena and want to connect their actions to personal and career goals.

When you talk to Millennials about P.E.O., help them understand their ideas and opinions are valuable and they will be mentored by bright, creative women who will help them make a difference in their communities and worldwide.

Introducing our daughters and granddaughters to P.E.O., at any age, helps them understand the value of developing close friendships and working toward a common philanthropic goal. It also preserves the legacy of P.E.O., a timeless friendship organization devoted to helping women reach their educational aspirations.

P.E.O. have a special bond that connects them in an often mystical and inexplicable way. Dana Johnson and members of Chapter AM, Knoxville, Illinois, were reminded of this when they met in Dana’s new home.

Prominently displayed in the Johnson’s dining room is an antique oil painting, done in the 1870s by Ione Ambler. P.E.O. records show that both Ione Ambler and Cassie Allen claimed to have been the eighth member, the first to have been initiated after the seven Founders, though no one else could remember for sure. Each was initiated before April 16, 1870, when the first recorded minutes are available. Ione’s painting is right at home in Dana’s house which boasts its own P.E.O. history. Many Chapter AM meetings have been held there through the years as the house was owned at different times by chapter members.

How Dana and her husband Randy acquired the painting is an interesting story.

When the Johnsons moved into their home, Dana knew she would need more wall art to complement the new decor and accessorize the additional square footage of the house. And she had a deadline—with a P.E.O. meeting (including an Official Visit) looming on the horizon.

In the fall of 2009, Dana and Randy were on a road trip on their Harley Davidson motorcycle. Tucked away in a corner at St. Petersburg Mercantile, an antique shop in Hannibal, Missouri, Dana spied a wonderful oil painting in a massive old frame. Her excitement soared when she found the note on the back, attributing it to artist Ione Ambler. The handwritten note read, “Painting by first initiate into P.E.O. Ione Ambler, great aunt of Frances Trench.” Dana suspects that Frances Trench probably owned the painting at one time. Despite her excitement, Dana felt she had to pass on the painting, as it carried a price tag way beyond her budget. In addition, the piece was impractical and impossible to transport back to Illinois via their motorcycle. So they left the shop and continued on their journey as planned. But Dana couldn’t get the painting out of her mind. She really wanted that painting—she had fallen in love with it.

BIL Randy offered to reroute their return trip and go back through Hannibal, so they could buy the painting. Once back at the antique store, Dana negotiated a lower price and bought the painting. The owner of the antique store did not recall how he came to acquire Ione’s painting, but said it likely came from Marion County, in central Iowa.

After returning home to Knoxville on their motorcycle, Randy made the three-hour trip back to Hannibal in his car to pick up the painting. The painting came home to Dana’s dining room and was hung on the wall in time for her P.E.O. meeting.

The spirit of P.E.O. continues to work through Dana and Chapter AM members who find their P.E.O. connections strengthened by tangible mementos like Ione Ambler’s painting.
The P.E.O. Pyramid of Giving
by Kathy Soppe, P.E.O. Director of Finance/Treasurer

The P.E.O. Sisterhood has a long and rich tradition of philanthropy. For more than 100 years, P.E.O.s have joined forces to support women's education through the International Chapter projects. In addition, state, provincial and district (s/p/d) chapters have established projects for scholarship funds and other worthy causes. Both International and s/p/d projects further the work of the P.E.O. Sisterhood and depend primarily on chapter and member support. Though most of the charitable work of P.E.O. is fulfilled through these projects, chapters also seek to raise awareness of P.E.O. through involvement in their communities.

Questions are frequently asked concerning the appropriate amount of chapter funds to be devoted to International projects, s/p/d projects and community efforts. Common questions include...How much should a local chapter give to the International projects? How much can a chapter use for community causes, including local chapter scholarships? How much can a chapter hold in its treasury?

The Executive Board of International Chapter approved a Finances and Service policy in April 2010 (see below). This policy formally states that the primary purpose of our chapters is to support the philanthropic projects of the P.E.O. Sisterhood. This not only reinforces our mission statement, but is also the basis for our IRS group exemption. In order to maintain this group exemption, chapters must illustrate support of our common purpose through use of their financial resources.

The P.E.O. Finances and Service Policy does not provide specifics. Instead, it is a basic framework to raise awareness and encourage chapter discussion. In order to guide chapter decisions, consider a P.E.O. Pyramid of Giving, a three-tiered pyramid representing the three levels of contributions—International projects, s/p/d projects and local chapter interests.

A chapter should consider their giving on these three priority levels. The base of a pyramid represents the largest portion of a chapter’s giving and this should be to the International Chapter projects. The middle section of the pyramid represents contributions to s/p/d projects. The smallest portion of the pyramid is the tip, and this is the portion of chapter giving that is available for local chapter scholarships and other community needs. Though the exact amount or percentage of giving may be different between chapters, the shape of the pyramid should guide chapter decisions and help to focus support on the projects that are the strength of our sisterhood.

Though only a minimal amount of chapter funds should be used for local scholarships or other non-P.E.O. charities, members are encouraged to share their time and talents in the community. For example, local chapters may gather to work in a soup kitchen, assist with disaster clean-up or volunteer at a food pantry. Just as other charities focus their finances on a specific cause, P.E.O. has chosen to focus efforts on our educational projects.

“Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much.”
—Helen Keller

Helen Keller once stated, “Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much.” P.E.O. has proven the worth of this statement by assisting nearly 100,000 women finance their education with more than $200 million through our International Chapter projects. Our concentrated efforts will ensure the continued success of the P.E.O. philanthropic projects, and more importantly, our mission to help women reach for the stars!

Local Chapter Accounts: How much is too much?
As of February 28, 2010, more than $17 million was held in local chapter accounts. This is an average of $2,800 per chapter, with 141 local chapters having a balance of more than $5,000. How much is too much? A rule of thumb is to maintain one year of operating expenses in the local chapter treasury. Unless a chapter is saving for convention expenses or a special gift, there should be no reason to maintain excess funds.
In keeping with the mission of P.E.O., the focus of chapter funds and fundraising activities shall be International Chapter projects, followed by state/provincial/district projects. In order to protect International Chapter’s exemption with the United States Internal Revenue Service, chapters must demonstrate the mission of P.E.O. through financial support. Therefore, P.E.O. dollars, offered and earned by members in the name of P.E.O., should be considered primarily for approved P.E.O. projects and/or the P.E.O. Foundation, with minimal chapter funds used for outside philanthropic or local educational activities.

To strengthen P.E.O.’s visible influence in the community, chapters and chapter members are encouraged to offer their talents, skills, time and service for local philanthropic and educational endeavors.
P.E.O. Mackenzie Lowry Ranks Among Glamour Magazine’s Top 10 College Women

by Lee Ann Rohrer, K, Lexington, Kentucky and Becky Frazier, Editor, The P.E.O. Record

Mackenzie Lowry, K, Lexington, Kentucky, is a young woman who knows how to set goals and reach them.

A 22-year-old senior at Harvard University, Mackenzie was 14 when her father died of lung cancer. She soon became very involved in a campaign to raise the state cigarette tax in Iowa to a dollar a pack. The bill passed in 2007 and Mackenzie was among those cited by the governor for their efforts.

“I wanted everyone to look at my widowed mother, my sister and me and see that smoking doesn’t just hurt the person doing it,” said Mackenzie.

Mackenzie deferred her enrollment at Harvard for a year to see the Iowa cigarette tax campaign through to the end. At Harvard she soon was back on the trail, founding the Tobacco Control Policy Group, a student-run think tank at the Institute of Politics.

During the summer of 2010 Mackenzie served as an intern with L’Oreal Corporate in brand management for Garnier. “I really liked it,” said Mackenzie. “It was a great experience—giving the business world a try—but I’ve decided to stay working in some capacity with public health.”

Mackenzie has also been involved with the American Cancer Society for several years. As an intern for the American Cancer Society’s International Affairs Department, she worked remotely from campus with staff from Atlanta, New York and Boston, helping with research projects, assisting with grant writing, tracking grants and getting involved in international fundraising and marketing for the organization.

Last fall, Glamour magazine recognized Mackenzie as one of the Top 10 College Women in the nation. The magazine has been giving the awards for 53 years to honor impressive female students.

New York City during the summer, culminating in an awards luncheon. Mackenzie was one of the three recipients chosen by The Today Show to be interviewed by Ann Curry.

Mackenzie will graduate from Harvard in May with a major in history and science and a minor in global health and health policy. She hopes to stay at Harvard and take her life in a direction where she can have a rewarding career and still stay in the anti-tobacco line of work in any way she can.

Mackenzie’s P.E.O. Experience

Mackenzie was initiated into Chapter EA, Clear Lake, Iowa, in the spring of 2008. Both Mackenzie and her mother, Jackie Lowry Hofman, are members of Chapter K, Lexington, Kentucky. Formerly members of Chapter EA, Clear Lake, Iowa, they transferred their membership to Chapter K when the family moved to Lexington in 2008.

“My mom looked forward to going to P.E.O.,” recalls Mackenzie. “She has formed incredibly strong friendships through P.E.O. and always spoke highly of it. I was so happy to be invited to be a part of this organization. The mission of P.E.O., with emphasis on international philanthropy and education is important to me, especially as a young college-aged woman. The network of sisters who really care about this mission is remarkable. I would encourage any young woman, if invited, to join P.E.O.”

In her limited free time, Mackenzie enjoys horseback riding. She joined the polo team at Harvard and enjoyed the time away from campus with the horses. She also enjoys reading magazines and exploring the unique neighborhoods and squares in Cambridge. She said, “There are a lot of cute specialty shops and cafes here. I enjoy walking and exploring—just getting to know the neighborhood better. Every square has its own character. It’s great to get to know the community you live in better.”

As for the future, Mackenzie is considering several options—possibly law school or medical school. Her dream is to eventually become a health care policy adviser to the president. With her experience and determination, that is a realistic goal.

“...I have a support network, just because I am in P.E.O. There is something really unique in that.”

The membership committee of Chapter L, Minneapolis, Minnesota, concedes they might be seen as obsessed, overzealous or even crazy by their P.E.O. chapter sisters...but they don't mind because they are having fun—and making a real difference within their chapter.

Chapter L, which was formed in 1915, has 45 resident members. Twenty years ago, the majority of Chapter L sisters were centrally located near Minneapolis; today members are dispersed throughout 18 cities across the Minneapolis/Saint Paul metropolitan area. Initiation dates of Chapter L members range from 1965 to the present (five generations), with the vast majority of initiations in the last two decades.

Formed in May 2010, the Chapter L membership committee is comprised of Lindsay Larson and Kris Hanson. Kris recalls, “When we met as a committee for the first time, we used the MEmbership Begins with ME document. I can’t tell you enough how helpful it is—it contains fabulous information and it motivated us to commit to our role as a committee.”

One of the first things the committee decided to do was complete a thorough chapter assessment. First, they looked at basic demographic information, average meeting attendance, participation in social groups and cumulative participation. It was important for the committee to look at the data in context. Kris said, “When we looked at the numbers for meeting attendance alone, that did not reflect the positive energy that is in our chapter. We have an active social group and active interest groups. These are wonderful but we don’t want these activities to be a substitute for bonding during meetings.”

Part of the assessment process was holding membership focus groups—small group sessions where members were encouraged to speak candidly with each other, bond and share stories. Topics discussed in these focus groups included “What do you love most about our chapter?” and “What would you suggest we change to make our chapter more vibrant?”

Key findings and recommendations from the chapter assessment included:

- The more we know the more we grow. As understanding of P.E.O. procedures, projects and traditions is enhanced, sisters will be more focused and enjoy greater satisfaction.
- Committees are critical. Committees provide a significant opportunity to engage and build relationships.
- Support focus groups to explore continued opportunities for improvement.
- Adjust structure of meeting as needed. Support time for bonding, chapter work and programming.
- Commit to chapter growth. Facilitate collaboration among committees to increase outreach and recruitment.
- Develop emphasis on nurturing. Implement a mentor program for new members; facilitate bonding for current members.

The membership committee maintains a visible presence within the chapter. Each month they publish two columns in the chapter newsletter. Kris explains, “The most reasonable way to share all the information we have for members is in bits and pieces. Every month we give readers gentle reminders on where to focus their energies, how to be good members and care for one another.”

One column, called “Did You Know?” aims to inspire awareness and generate interest while sharing P.E.O. membership information. Each “Did You Know” typically includes a detailed chart or graph using membership data from March 2009-March 2010. Past “Did You Know” topics have included “Where Our Chapter Members Live,” “Where Our Meetings Take Place” and “Comparisons in Attendance—Variations Due to Days of the Weeks and Months of the Year.”

The other membership committee column is called “Ask a Sister,” where discussion about membership is promoted in a conversational manner using a question and answer format. This is a way to get to know P.E.O. sisters better, to know how P.E.O. impacts their lives and how their lives impact P.E.O. A new question is presented to members each month at the chapter meeting. Past questions posed in the “Ask a Sister” column include “What is your favorite way to serve the chapter?” “How has P.E.O. affected your children or you as a child?” and “Have you ever heard something that made you think ‘she sounds like a project recipient?’ How might we develop our listening skills to identify potential candidates?”

A recent coup for the committee was being able to interview International President Elizabeth (Liz) Garrels for the “Ask A Sister”... feature, asking her, “Does meeting attendance equal member participation?” Liz’s response was a resounding “Yes!” and she elaborated, “As we give in P.E.O. the rewards we receive are great. Building relationships is what builds our chapters and a strong membership leads to strong relationships.”

Inspired by their interview with Liz, the membership committee asked Chapter L sisters, “What components make you not want to miss a Chapter L meeting or social event?” Answers given were:

- Staying current with sisters
- Friendships
- Learning something new about your sister
- Promoting women’s education
- Social time after meetings
- Socializing with women of different ages, professions, etc.
- Philanthropy for local communities
- Fun, laughter, learning
- Fellowship
- Interesting, well-prepared programs
- Book group
- Hearing about the great things Chapter L is doing and the women we’re impacting
- Historical connectivity of P.E.O.
- Learning from others through interesting programs
- Inspiration and loving support from each other
- Feeling like I’m part of a cozy group
- Common interests between sisters
- With a recent initiation, the reminder of the oath I took makes me want to attend
- Being a part of something “bigger”

Last fall the membership committee presented a detailed action plan with recommendations to Chapter L’s officers. The committee’s ideas were enthusiastically received and this year the committee’s initiatives will focus on four principles and objectives:

- Principle: Enthusiastic participation
  Objective: To inspire membership participation through committee involvement

- Principle: Member attendance
  Objective: To increase perceived value of meetings to drive increased attendance of members and guests

- Principle: Strengthening the Sisterhood
  Objective: To make P.E.O. “personal” again

- Principle: Commitment to growth
  Objective: To increase membership

The Chapter L membership committee recognizes that a strong membership is crucial to a happy and healthy chapter and that it is sometimes helpful to be reminded and reflect upon how great it is to be part of P.E.O. Kris said, “Having had the beautiful experience with Liz, we don’t have to think of ourselves within any particular arbitrary confines—city, state or country. P.E.O. extends beyond all of those boundaries.”

Chapter L’s membership committee knows that their efforts don’t stop with one or two individuals. They say, “P.E.O. truly is an organization of many inspirational women. As we draw from—and contribute to—one another, our strength builds. It has no limits. It’s about working with our sisters so they can maximize their strengths and gain from the benefits of P.E.O.” Members of Chapter L have demonstrated genuine interest in the membership initiatives—they are clearly motivated to making Chapter L and P.E.O. the best it can be.
Across the Years: Looking Back and Moving Forward

by Special Committee to Study P.E.O. Ceremonies and Meeting Procedure

This timeline presents a view of P.E.O. through the years, highlighting changes in procedures and ceremonies—from the 35-word oath that was incorporated into an elaborate ceremony, to the large star pin that was modified to coincide with dictates of fashion, from handwritten procedures to the modern president’s book, and from a rudimentary magazine to computer technology.

In early years, members were focused on establishing the Sisterhood’s internal structure. With growth in members came the need for deciding the framework by which they would be governed and assuring uniformity in procedures for conducting meetings. Means for efficient communication were necessary. Physical structures to house the supply department and eventually the executive offices became essential.

When the internal structure was firm, P.E.O.s turned more of their attention and energy toward educational opportunities for women. The projects of the Sisterhood came in response to the evolving needs of women over the years.

What do you see in this snapshot of the evolution of P.E.O.? Has P.E.O. changed? In which direction is P.E.O. headed? What is on the horizon? In the 21st Century how can P.E.O.s lead the way for women and be a positive influence toward all with whom we associate?

Timeline Legend

- Changes in P.E.O. Ceremonies and Procedures
- P.E.O. Fellowship, Visibility and Communication
- P.E.O. Projects and Educational Support

1860–1869

- 1869 First meeting held on January 21, 1869; P.E.O. was named; star chosen as emblem of society; original oath—only 35 words—a simple pledge of secrecy; constitution and bylaws established identifying objects of society; first officers installed for six month term; first pins created.

1870–1879

- 1870 First P.E.O. social, Sidereal Soiree, held December 26; tickets $2 apiece and a “tax” of 15 cents per member collected to pay for invitations.
- 1870 Amendment to bylaws adopted requiring $3 initiation fee to pay for pin.
- 1871 Office of Chaplain established.

1880–1889

- 1881 Office of Guard established.
- 1882 Initiation ceremony expanded and adopted by Chapter A; original oath as written by Alice Bird was incorporated.
- 1883 Delegates from six chapters met and adopted constitution and bylaws of first Grand Chapter; elected Mary Berry-Price President; transferred power from Chapter A to Grand Chapter.
1884 No membership fees, but a “tax” of 50 cents, payable semi-annually, first provision passed to sustain young Grand Chapter.

1887 Constitution and bylaws of Grand Chapter and initiation ceremony revised and expanded; old ceremonies and constitutions ordered destroyed and many P.E.O. historical records lost.

1888 White and yellow chosen as P.E.O. colors.

1889 The P.E.O. Record debuted January 1; Effie Hoffman-Rogers first editor-in-chief; each chapter had a “journalist” to contribute news.

1889–1899

1890 Provisions made to letter chapters in each state, beginning with A and proceeding through the alphabet; first burial ritual written and adopted.

1893 Articles of Incorporation adopted; Grand Chapter became Supreme Grand Chapter of P.E.O. Sisterhood and annual conventions changed to biennial; office of Organizer added to Executive Board; marguerite chosen as flower.

1893 P.E.O. Days held at World Columbian Exposition in Chicago to increase public awareness of the Sisterhood.

1897 Star ceremony introduced; first initiatory emblem was a painted star canvas placed on the floor; officers stood at points and read parts from books on a table. Floor star soon changed to a tabletop star “pillow” handmade by each chapter and memorization of officers’ parts required.

1899 New initiation service using star ceremony approved and used uniformly in all chapters.

1900–1909

1903 Although parliamentary procedures used, meetings mandated to be conducted following Robert’s Rules of Order.

1904 P.E.O. Days held at Saint Louis Exposition to increase public awareness of the Sisterhood.

1905 Specific instructions adopted for disposition of P.E.O. pin upon death of a member.

1907 At convention of Supreme Grand Chapter, revisions to initiation ceremony adopted included changing password.

1907 P.E.O. Educational Loan Fund established, first unified project of P.E.O.

1909 Supreme Grand Chapter renamed Supreme Chapter of P.E.O. Sisterhood.

1911 P.E.O. expands internationally when first chapter organized in Vancouver, British Columbia; Bertha O. Clarke serves as first president of Chapter A.

1915 Members exchange large pins for more fashionable small pins.

2010–2019

- 2011 More than 85,000 women recipients of P.E.O. financial assistance totaling more than $210 million.
As a BIL for some 40 plus years now, I’ve had the pleasure of meeting and becoming friends with a large number of the most caring and compassionate people anyone could ever meet.

Initially I was a little skeptical of an organization that was rather secretive about their name. I knew P.E.O. supported a college for women and there are more chapters than one can “shake a stick at.” I did not realize however, the scope of their fundraising efforts and the support they give to deserving women until my wife, Patricia Alley, EY, Tucson, Arizona, took a special interest in the PCE program. I have seen first hand the impact this program has had on a lot of women of all ages who, for whatever reasons, needed the extra assistance that P.E.O. was able to provide in order for them to complete a degree and begin a new chapter in their lives.

I’m convinced that the assistance P.E.O. has provided to these deserving women has, in many cases, made the difference between success and failure. I have been to BIL parties where these recipients have spoken to the P.E.O. chapter and BILs after having achieved a degree, gotten a job and become a productive member of the workforce. There is not a dry eye in the room, as these women are very emotional and appreciative of the help they received from P.E.O. at a critical point in their lives.

This is just one of the tangible benefits of P.E.O. The side benefits for a BIL are also outstanding. My job caused us to move several times in our lives in order to advance my career. Moves are never easy, but it has been absolutely amazing to me to see the open and welcoming arms of P.E.O.’s no matter where we have gone.

Women are good judges of character and one needs look no further than the assembled group of women that form one of the local chapters of P.E.O. to see the quality of this character. 🌟

“...it has been absolutely amazing to me to see the open and welcoming arms of P.E.O.’s no matter where we have gone.”

CIM is VIP (Very Important Paperwork)
The Change in Membership (CIM) form is used to report:
- Initiations
- Transfers in
- Reinstatements
- Deaths
- Name changes
- Change of Address

Changes should be submitted via the CIM promptly.

Did you know?
- New initiates are not shown on the P.E.O. database as a member of the Sisterhood until their CIM form is received at the P.E.O. Executive Office.
- If the CIM form has not been received, an emblem will not be ordered.
- Your new P.E.O. sister will not receive The P.E.O. Record until the CIM has been received.

FIRST: Send the CIM form with the initiate’s information.
THEN: Order an emblem for your new member.

Celebrate the 50th anniversary of the P.E.O. Foundation with a gift to the P.E.O. Foundation 50th Anniversary Fund.

Every chapter is encouraged to donate $50 to this fund. Donations from individuals in any amount are also encouraged.

The Foundation’s 50th anniversary celebration will last through September 2011, culminating at the Convention of International Chapter in Saint Louis, Missouri. All money contributed to the P.E.O. Foundation 50th Anniversary Fund will be distributed as a special gift to the P.E.O. educational projects.

Your gift to the P.E.O. Foundation—regardless of size or nature—will help ensure the continuance of the P.E.O. mission.

The P.E.O. Educational Loan Fund trustees and the ELF International office receive questions from chapters and individuals throughout the year regarding how the loan fund works, what chapters can expect once they have recommended an applicant and what they can do to promote the loan fund. Here is some helpful information to answer some of your questions.

The ELF Loan Process

How does it work?

- The loan process always begins with the chapter. Once a chapter identifies a potential loan applicant, a thorough interview should be conducted to ensure that the potential candidate meets all ELF loan requirements. After eligibility is established, the chapter votes to recommend their candidate for a loan. The chapter ELF chairman completes the Chapter Recommendation (CR) form and writes a letter of recommendation. Both documents are sent to the International P.E.O. ELF office in Des Moines, Iowa.
- When the CR form and letter of recommendation are received in the ELF office, the applicant is sent an application packet. Then it is in the hands of the applicant who must complete and return all required information.
- All completed loan application materials received from the applicant are forwarded to the ELF trustees for review and approval.

Each application is reviewed on an individual basis.

- The application process typically takes eight to 12 weeks depending on the timeliness of the applicant in returning her loan application materials.

What comes next?

- The chapter is notified that its chapter recommendation has been received. If the ELF office staff has questions or notices a discrepancy in the CR Form, the chapter ELF chairman or president is sent an inquiry, usually by email.
- Upon approval, the applicant and the sponsoring chapter are each notified of the decision of the ELF board of trustees. If a loan candidate is denied a loan, she is contacted with the specific reason for denial. The chapter is also notified but is only told that the applicant was unsuccessful, thus protecting the privacy of the applicant.
- After the initial notification that an applicant has received an ELF loan, the local chapter will not hear from the ELF office until the loan has been repaid.

What You Can Do To Promote ELF

- Become ELF educated.
- Keep your chapter informed.
- Give ELF reports at each chapter meeting. Use the excellent ELF information on the P.E.O. website, in The P.E.O. Record and from your state, provincial or district ELF chairman.
- Support and stay in contact with your loan recipient until her loan is repaid.
- Ask your loan recipient if she might know of other women in need of financial assistance with their education.
- Invite your loan recipient to visit your chapter to present a program.
- ACTIVELY search for potential ELF applicants. Involve all chapter members in the search.
- Set ELF goals for your chapter each year; include finding and sponsoring applicants.

How Can You Stay “ELF” Informed?

- Visit the ELF page on the P.E.O. website often.
- Get to know ELF’s history.
- Report to your chapter at every meeting. Monthly ELF 1-2-3s are posted on the P.E.O. website. These contain brief, informative and timely information about ELF.
- Become familiar with the ELF interview guidelines on the website.
- Give an informative ELF program each year to your chapter.
- Contact your state, provincial or district ELF chairman with questions. She is in the know about ELF policies and procedures.
When we have guests at Cottey College, whether they are colleagues from other institutions, P.E.O.s or families and friends of students, one thing they notice is the international diversity of our student body. The Maisons d’Éducation de la Légion d’Honneur is one of several partnerships bringing students from around the world to enrich learning at Cottey. This particular relationship has made it possible for 64 young women from France to study at Cottey, and the resulting contributions to global understanding are immeasurable.

In recognition of this relationship, I was privileged to receive the decoration, Chevalier of the Légion of Honor. Guy Wildenstein, president of the American Society of the French Légion of Honor, conferred the decoration. Family, friends, P.E.O.s, alumnae and representatives of the Légion of Honor attended the ceremony and a reception that was held at the Cultural Services of the French Embassy in New York on March 17, 2011.

The President of the French Republic appoints all members of the Légion d’Honneur on the advice of the government. The Légion d’Honneur, an order of merit, was established in 1802 by Napoleon Bonaparte to commend French civilians and soldiers. Today, in addition to military recipients, the order of merit decoration is conferred to many others. The order is the highest decoration in France, and Chevalier is the first level of merit of the five degree-levels.

The unique arrangement between Cottey College and the Maisons d’Éducation de la Légion d’Honneur began as a result of a special connection with Dr. Marie and Dr. Don Lamore, professors emeriti of French. The Lamores introduced Cottey to the Maisons d’Éducation, a distinguished lycee-level school established in 1805 by Napoleon at Saint Denis, France. Since 1978, the support of the American Society of the French Légion of Honor has been critical to Cottey’s relationship with Maisons d’Éducation. The Society awards scholarship grants to the students from the Maisons d’Éducation to attend Cottey for one year, and Cottey matches these grants. These young women have also benefited from the P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship, the Dow International Scholarship and other scholarships and grants available at Cottey.

After nearly 35 years, the relationship remains strong among Cottey, Maisons d’Éducation and the American Society.
IPS Innovation in the Rice Fields of Nepal

by Linda Spence, P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship Board of Trustees

In Nepal, with abundant biodiversity, 65 percent of the active population is engaged in agriculture, but the productivity is a meager 2 percent. One current International Peace Scholarship student is on a mission to change that.

When her father left the family, Janani Rajbhandari Thapa and her siblings worked hard to assist their mother. Janani was a diligent student, receiving scholarships for higher education, and graduating as one of the top five students from Tribhuvan University. Her academic success and visits she made to remote districts of Nepal as a survey assistant led her to choose a career in agriculture.

“The experiences I have had as a daughter, as a student and a mid-career professional in agriculture have made me more committed toward working for the advancement of rural Nepalese women, who are socially, economically and culturally deprived. I came to understand poverty and misery in a more personal sense. I talked to hungry mothers and starving children who were malnourished when I worked for a Non-Government Organization (NGO) in Western Nepal.”

After graduation from the Institute of Agriculture and Animal Science at Rampur, she began working with the System of Rice Intensification (SRI), which diverges greatly from traditional cultivation. To establish stronger adult plants, rice seedlings are planted while very young, providing them with more space to grow so they have more food, air and sunlight than under normal conditions. The higher yields attainable under this system, with reduced use of water, fertilizer and agrochemicals, attracted her. If this method worked, it would be especially beneficial for small farmers and poor households, as well as for the environment.

Janani established a research plot with financial support from Professor Norman Uphoff at Cornell University. “SRI rice fields looked almost empty and dry for the first month, due to only single seedlings planted per hill, wider spacing between plants (plant population is reduced 80-90 percent), and unflooded soil conditions. After a month as the plants started tillering profusely, however, they attracted much attention. We observed up to 45 tillers per plant compared to 10 or 12 tillers per hill (with two to three plants in each hill).”

Janani began a demonstration project to help farmers understand the different management of land, labor, water and capital needed to bring greater return. She learned how difficult it was to be a farmer, the risks and uncertainties, and that small decisions can have huge impacts. It was then she began to feel the need for managerial skills and the ability to make people understand.

Her initiative to spread SRI knowledge and practice in Chitwan Valley involved working with government, NGOs and farmers. Knowledge of agricultural techniques alone was not sufficient. She felt she needed capital and financial management skills, and public affairs to strengthen the human aspects in agriculture.

Now Janani is working toward her Masters in Public Administration (MPA) at Cornell’s Institute for Public Affairs to acquire knowledge and proficiency to help people help themselves, making a better world for future generations, practicing sustainable agriculture.
“My Benefactors Are Now My Sisters”
A PCE Recipient’s Story
by Lisa Sanger, LX, Kirkwood, Missouri

“My Benefactors Are Now My Sisters” read the program description for a class at my local community college. Is that what I am? Whether I liked the idea or not, I had to admit that my life as a happy homemaker was over. Newly divorced, I was definitely feeling “displaced!”

So, fighting the gnawing in the pit of my stomach, I made the call that would return me to life as a college student. Juggling the needs of my six year old son, working part-time, and studying full-time was exhausting. Although I was earning good grades and feeling more confident every day, in the middle of my second year, during finals week, I found myself overwhelmed. My mother was diagnosed with cancer, my car stopped running and my bank account was quickly approaching zero. I was headed for a crash and it was going to be a doozy.

During an appointment with my counselor, I tried to control my emotions but the tears began to flow. I admitted that I did not have the funds to cover my expenses for the final semester of my associate’s degree. I was exhausted, broke and lonely. It was all just too much!

That wise, compassionate counselor advised me to go home and get some sleep. She also asked permission to give my name and contact information to a local women’s organization. She mentioned a P.E.O. program that provided grants to assist women in completing their education. “Sure,” I said, “What do I have to lose?”

That was 22 years ago. What I did not know then was how much P.E.O. was going to change my life. All through those tough years of college the amazing ladies of Chapter LX, Kirkwood, Missouri, rallied behind me. Their enthusiasm, love and support were just the catalysts I needed to make it through one more day, one more week, one more semester. It is a credit to them that I finished that associate’s degree and went on to earn both a bachelor’s and master’s degree. Not only did Chapter LX sponsor me for a PCE grant, but also for a later ELF loan.

During my years of study, they welcomed me into their beautiful homes, served me delicious meals and made me feel like royalty. I never wanted to miss a P.E.O. Christmas luncheon. Their warm smiles and words of support were the highlight of my holiday season. These women became my examples and my mentors. Their genuine compassion and abundant encouragement won my heart.

“I was recently given the honor of presenting another young woman with a PCE grant check. The gratitude I saw in her eyes was a reflection of my own.”

Today I am a proud member of Chapter LX and co-chair of the Program for Continuing Education. To my great pleasure, I was recently given the honor of presenting another young woman with a PCE grant check. The gratitude I saw in her eyes was a reflection of my own.

I take this opportunity to thank the P.E.O. Sisterhood as a whole. Your compassion and generosity have changed thousands of women’s lives. Please count me among those who recognize the great benefit of the time, care and funds you have given so freely.
Where Are They Now?

CELEBRATING CANADIAN SCHOLARS

by Ginny Petersen, P.E.O. Scholar Awards Board of Trustees

Congratulations to our Canadian sisters as we celebrate 100 years of P.E.O. in Canada—and congratulations as well to the many Canadian chapters that have successfully sponsored outstanding young women from Canada for the P.E.O. Scholar Awards. In the 20 years the Scholar Awards have been in existence, Canadian chapters have successfully nominated 58 Scholars. In this article we feature three of these young women, and share with you how they are faring on their “Journeys to Remarkable.”

Bonnie Meatherall, M.D.
Medical Doctor
2003-2004 Scholar
Sponsored by Chapter T, Winnipeg, Manitoba

Bonnie completed her medical degree in 2004 and also received her bachelor of medicine degree (research focus) at the same time. While a medical student, she did an elective block in Nairobi, Kenya, working primarily with AIDS patients; she did another block in China, studying herbal medicine and acupuncture; she did her family medicine block in Nunavit, Canada, where she saw a lot of TB patients.

Since receiving her medical degree in 2004, Bonnie has completed a residency in internal medicine at the University of Calgary, Alberta; a fellowship in infectious diseases, including a diploma of tropical medicine and hygiene through a Gorgas course in Lima, Peru; and a master of science in epidemiology from the London (England) School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine.

As of December 2010, Bonnie is an assistant professor in the Department of Medicine/Division of Infectious Diseases at the University of Calgary. She is currently treating general infectious diseases at Foothills Medical Center and Peter Lougheed Center hospitals and providing HIV care at the Southern Alberta Clinic. She is also setting up a new clinic within the Calgary Health Region that specializes in post-travel/tropical diseases.

When she has time, Bonnie continues her long distance running, snow boarding, kayaking, mountain climbing, camping and traveling to warmer climes! She took up surfing and Salsa dancing in Peru, and she has traveled on her own to Morocco, India and Nepal, all areas that are of great medical interest.

Bonnie’s mother Pat is a P.E.O, and past provincial president of Manitoba.

“Thank you P.E.O. for helping me live my dreams!”

—Michele Martin
Thank you, Canadian chapters, for nominating and supporting these outstanding young women for a Scholar Award. They are well on their way to making significant contributions in their fields. By supporting them, you have truly “Invested in Journeys to Remarkable.”
Have you ever wondered about project recipients once they have received their awards? Five P.E.O. STAR Scholarship recipients at Cottey discuss their past, present and future plans. See how YOU have made a difference …

BELLA DALLY
“I have always been fascinated with teaching and helping other people.”
(2010 recipient)
Bella grew up on Montana’s Flathead Indian Reservation among the Salish, Pend d’Oreille and Kootenai people. Focusing on her cultural heritage, she learned to speak the Salish language and volunteered for the reservation’s health education programs.

During her eighth grade year, a P.E.O. introduced Bella to Cottey College. “There was an intercom announcement for a presentation about a women’s college and at that time I really wanted to get out of my math class.”

During high school Bella played volleyball, basketball and softball; coached youth softball and basketball; served as vice president of the West Montana District of Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA); worked part-time and graduated fifth in her class.

At Cottey, Bella has served as the Robertson Hall freshman representative to Cottey’s Student Government Association and cleans local houses for extra money. When asked about her favorite aspects of Cottey, she quickly answered, “The welcoming suite environment, helpful tutoring program, [her] loving Catholic Church host family and P.E.O.!”

Bella plans to attend the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., or Boise State University to pursue a constitutional law degree.

JOSEPHINE FOLEY
“I want to be an ambassador for horses that have been mistreated or are injured.”
(2010 recipient)
Despite growing up in a small town, Josie found opportunities to make a difference. In high school, she was involved with the Nevada Future Farmers of America, Spanish Club, band, theater, National Honor Society and National Technical Honor Society. She had a part-time job and graduated with honors.

Currently, Josie serves as secretary for Angels for Pets and Cottey’s Emerson Society and is a freshman suite representative. Three nights each week she tutors students from her high school and is also involved in numerous church activities.

Josie plans to earn a master’s degree in equestrian science, a doctoral degree in animal science and hopes to make a positive impact on the cattle industry by developing a healthy, chemical-free meat and an efficient grain for the animals.

ANNETTE STEVENSON
“I have always been a rather driven and goal-oriented individual.”
(2010 recipient)
As a high school senior, Annette was the crew leader for one of Pineville’s Heart of Oregon Corps crews. Funded by the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, her crew worked on a wetland preservation project studying stream vegetation.

Leadership and decision making were familiar concepts to Annette, who served as the student government secretary, Key Club member and Rotary Club volunteer. She also competed in track and cross country skiing. Graduating tenth in her class, she wanted an academically focused college and said, “I liked the idea of having close connections with my professors.”

At Cottey, Annette has participated in the LEO certificate program; is Freshman Class Song Leader; a member of the Feminist Majority Foundation and a receptionist for P.E.O. Hall. Although focused on a career in marine biology, Annette has enjoyed studying ceramics this semester.

Annette is thankful for the support system resulting from completing her STAR Scholarship application, “It is nice to have someone to talk to and share your experiences with that cares about your education.”
REBECCA EATON
“My fascination with law and psychology I will use as stepping stones to influence my surroundings.”
(2009 recipient)

“I would definitely choose Cottey College again,” Rebecca states. “The STAR Scholarship meant I had an opportunity to continue my education wherever I might go, and it’s given me the opportunity to live through my education to be a better woman in life.”

Currently Rebecca is a resident assistant in Robertson Hall, vice president of the Rotaract Club, a member of Bacchus and the LEO program and an intern for the Vernon County Youth Task Force. Rebecca plans to study political science and counseling, minoring in Spanish, at William Jewell College with the goal of becoming a lawyer for children’s advocacy.

JULIE HANKINSON
“I want to make a difference in the life of a child.”
(2009 recipient)

To earn her Girl Scout Gold Award, Julie hosted a community Thanksgiving dinner for 200 people in need or alone during the holiday. Growing up in a small town, she was active in the United Methodist Youth Fellowship, served on numerous mission teams and worked at the local nursing home as a dining room aide.

After graduation, Julie plans to earn an elementary education degree from William Woods University and pursue a career teaching kindergarten—she already has classroom experience after completing a work-study program at an elementary school in Nevada. Julie served as a Golden Key Ambassador, is a member of Psi Beta National Honor Society for psychology students, volunteers through the LEO program, participates in a wind ensemble and is a student representative on the Cottey Assessment Committee.

“The [STAR] Scholarship was an honor to receive,” Julie shared. “My mother, grandmother, great-grandmother and sister are all P.E.O. members. I have also been initiated. Being a P.E.O. made my Cottey experience even more meaningful.”

Ever-changing circumstances and economic realities are encouraging young women to expand their horizons and explore new careers—often with a global impact. This is no more evident than with the innovative achievements and leadership shown in the increased number of P.E.O. STAR Scholarship applications and continued growth of Cottey College.

Leadership is the common thread running through the lives and focus of today’s young women, providing opportunities and encouraging them “to step out of the mold,” reaching far beyond their comfortable surroundings. They have traveled more extensively, participated in decisions affecting their communities and regions, advocated policy changes and seek to address the needs, lives and cultural conditions of the world’s population.

Since P.E.O. accepted the gift of Cottey College in 1927, Cottey has continued as a premier college encouraging students to flourish by providing life-changing educational opportunities and programming designed for the success of women. Eighty-two years later, with the establishment of the STAR Scholarship in 2009, there is a perfect blending of efforts offering recognition and endless possibilities for achievement and growth. By acknowledging their present excellence and encouraging and channeling the skills of these young women, the STAR Scholarship and Cottey College will make them more forward-thinking and poised to achieve higher goals and greater recognition in their future endeavors.

The accomplishments of these young women are a glimpse of what their future achievements are certain to be. P.E.O. members are encouraged to explain the benefits and opportunities our projects offer and how they work. By sharing information and answering questions, school administrators, parents and communities will have a better understanding of the P.E.O. STAR Scholarship and the uniqueness of a Cottey College education.

Help identify these emerging leaders for the P.E.O. STAR Scholarship, recognizing and encouraging dreams, and for Cottey College, to develop their confidence, to realize their dreams and experience A Defining Moment.
Coffee for Author
Chapter IB of Dillon, Colorado, recently held a coffee featuring Polly Letofsky, author of “3MPH, The Adventures of One Woman’s Walk Around the World.” Polly walked across four continents, more than 14,000 miles in five years, to become the first woman to walk around the world. Her purpose was to raise global awareness for breast cancer. Polly’s book is filled with adventure, humor and transformational moments, delivering the timely reminder of the difference one person can make. She entertained guests of the coffee with tales of her trip. Refreshments were served and more than $1,500 was raised to support P.E.O. philanthropies.

VIP B&B
The Master’s Golf Tournament every April in Augusta, Georgia, has provided four South Carolina chapters an opportunity to showcase their lovely area. Aiken and North Augusta are 18 or less miles from the Augusta National where the tournament is held. For the week’s activities, the Aiken/North Augusta chapters of B, P, Y, and AI offer VIP bed and breakfast accommodations. The chapters work together to assure placement for as many P.E.O.s and their families as possible. While B&B guests are welcome anytime during the year, Master’s week is special. With dozens of hostesses among the four chapters, the B&B chairmen match guests and hostesses based on interests and needs. Before arriving guests are provided with maps, literature on the area and insider tips to assist with their planning and to ensure an enjoyable stay. South Carolina sisters have made many friends from many states over the years. Some “regulars” have been enjoying the southern hospitality for more than a decade, and each year the four chapters look forward to meeting and assisting sisters and their families who are new to the Masters. These B&Bs have generated more than $15,000 for P.E.O. projects.

Chapter L, Delaware, Holds Benefit Concert
Chapter L, Lewes, Delaware, hosted a benefit concert called “Music Man to Madame Butterfly,” and raised more than $6,000 for P.E.O. projects. Sisters worked for three months in advance, pre-selling tickets and distributing flyers and posters throughout the community. They wrote ads and articles for local newspapers and provided homemade baked goods that were served during intermission. The musicians presented a program of solos and duets from popular shows such as “The Music Man,” “Chicago,” “The Desert Song,” “Elixir of Love” and “Madame Butterfly” to the delight of all who attended. Through this community event, Chapter L raised awareness of P.E.O. and what we do to help women and their educational endeavors.

Putting Their Best Foot Forward
Since one of our country’s biggest challenges is our health, Chapter Q, Rapid City, South Dakota, decided to meet that challenge by hiking and biking in the beautiful Black Hills. The chapter first biked Rapid City’s bike path, which is more than 17 miles long in one direction. Ten chapter members biked along Rapid Creek and through many city parks. Everyone enjoyed it so much they wanted to try hiking. The hardest decision was choosing which one of the 500 miles of trails to explore. Sixteen women met in the northern hills and hiked the Botanical Trail, through high canyon walls, bur oaks and birch trees. Sisters reveled so much in the fun and benefits of physical fitness that they challenged the chapter to another hike this summer. Fifteen women trekked through shallow caves and crevasses
Chapter Q, Rapid City, South Dakota, hiked the Black Hills to get exercise and raise money for P.E.O. with overhangs, crossed a pristine creek, walked in wildflowers and took in the beauty of fall colors. Chapter Q learned the bonuses of physical activity, enjoyed getting to know each other better and became more aware of the world in their own backyard. All of the money charged for these excursions has gone into the chapter’s P.E.O. projects ways and means fund.

Information Sheet Yields Praise, Donations

The few times a year when chapter RC, Stockton, California, has a program presented by a non-P.E.O., the program committee sees that a brief information sheet is given to that person either prior to or immediately following the program.

The recipients are impressed when they learn more about the role our Philanthropic Educational Organization plays on local, state, national and international levels assisting thousands of women in realizing their educational goals through grants, awards, loans and scholarships.

The sheet includes a short paragraph about P.E.O.’s start in 1869 and its growth.

Two recent presenters returned the gift card received in appreciation for programs and insisted the chapter donate the money to one of the P.E.O. projects.

Chapter RC, Stockton, California, hands out P.E.O. information sheets to presenters and other non-members

Sister Chapters

You’ve heard of sister cities and sister schools, but have you ever heard of sister chapters? A chapter in Michigan and one in Virginia have taken that creative step and have become sister chapters.

The idea came about as a result of casual conversation. Joyce Darnton, BJ, Williamsburg, Virginia, spends the warmer months at a second home in northwest lower Michigan where she regularly attends meetings and functions of Chapter EM, Suttons Bay. In talking with the president of Michigan’s Chapter EM, Connie Eisenhart, they decided it might be fun to be sister chapters with each other. Connie consulted with EM’s board buddy Marty Walter, and Joyce talked with Dee Jones, Organizer, Virginia State Chapter.

Both were very enthusiastic about the concept—two chapters sharing newsletters, sharing ideas for fundraisers, programs, social activities, etc.

So the idea was born, accepted well by both chapters and has flourished for more than two years. Both of these chapters are large, and the idea of small groups within the chapter which had operated well for EM was successfully adopted by BJ. The two chapters have also exchanged small gifts at Christmas. Chapter BJ sent Virginia peanuts in the shell one year, and paperwhites as a hope for spring, while Chapter EM sent dried cherries, for which their region is well known. Chapter BJ sent a poem written by one of their published sisters, and this year Chapter EM made a contribution to one of the philanthropies in honor of their special friendship. The chapters also share yearbooks and believe that the idea is one that could be enjoyed by other chapters across the country. Good ideas are meant to be shared, and these sisters cherish the special bond of sharing, created by being sister chapters in P.E.O. 🌹

Mona has published 36 books. Her works include fiction, biography, history, poetry and a memoir. Mona is the publicity chairman for her P.E.O. chapter and the Rio Grande Valley Birding Festival.

Carrie Yakola, CQ, Chicago, Illinois, has written “Lucy’s Shooting Star” the second book in a children’s celestial trilogy. Carrie’s book is true-to-life with facts about nature and the universe. Filled with color illustrations, this book presents young readers with the mystery of the moon, stars and planets, including educational information about the galaxy in a dialogue between a little girl and her father.

Carrie has lived and worked in Oregon, Colorado, South Korea, Austria, Germany, The Netherlands, Illinois, Indiana, New York and Maine. During her travels, she has learned that certain things—like children and nature—transcend culture. Carrie, who has admired the moon and stars throughout her life, currently lives in York, Maine, with her husband, daughter and cat.

Mary Elizabeth “Mary Liz” Bailey has written “Bits of Yesterday” a collection of poems reflecting upon a lifetime of experience. Readers gain insight into the strength and joys of a woman who meets life’s challenges and uses her experiences to learn and grow. Mary Liz’s poems celebrate family, friendships, nature, faith, special events and small moments that may otherwise go unnoticed.

Jean Carnahan, KU, Rolla, Missouri, has written “The Tide Always Comes Back” a book of truisms, certainty and how the tide of life always turns. Jean wrote this book after the tragic death of her husband, Missouri Governor Mel Carnahan, and their oldest son in a plane crash and after the 9/11 attacks. When her husband was posthumously elected Missouri Senator, Jean took his seat. Readers experience Jean’s positive attitude, humor, faith and patriotism through these circumstances.

Jean served as Missouri Senator during one of our nation’s most difficult times. Currently, she is a motivational speaker, political activist and blogger. She lives in Saint Louis near her three children and four grandchildren.

Barbara Collins, FC, Muscatine, Iowa, under the pseudonym Barbara Allan, has published “Antiques Bizarre,” the fourth mystery novel in an award-winning Trash ‘n’ Treasures series. It is the tale of a church bazaar gone awry when a stolen Faberge egg leads to the owner’s murder. Barbara’s book is a humorous mystery featuring a pregnant divorcée (acting as a surrogate mother for her best friend), her bi-polar mother and their blind, diabetic dog Sushi. Each chapter ends with a light-hearted antiques tip. Barbara writes with her BIL Max Allan Collins. Barbara and Max have also co-authored a collection of short stories and three other books in the Trash ‘n’ Treasures series, winning the 2008 Romantic Times Toby Bromberg Award for Most Humorous Mystery.

Amy Rooks, FF, Klamath Falls, Oregon, has written “Alfonso the Ant: Why Can’t I Know the Secret” a children’s rhyming book about a persistent ant and his quest to learn his friends’ secret. The colorful artwork and easy rhymes hold the attention of children learning to read. Amy wrote this book with second and third graders in mind.

Amy graduated with a bachelor’s degree in education from Southern Oregon University and has a master’s degree in counseling from Portland State University. Amy was a teacher for more than 30 years and later became a school counselor and vice principal in the Henley school system in Klamath Falls. Amy and her BIL enjoy bird watching, wild flowers and spending time with their family.

Pat Holt, NB, Saint Louis, Missouri, co-chaired the committee responsible for the organization of “Herbal Cookery From the Kitchens and Gardens of the St. Louis Herb Society.” This cookbook is the collaborative effort of the 60 active members of the Saint Louis Herb Society, spearheaded by Pat. The book contains more than 200 tested recipes for everyone from beginners to expert cooks. This is the third cookbook published by the society, founded in 1941 and based at the Missouri Botanical Garden in Saint Louis. It has won several awards including the Gourmand World Cookbook Award for Best Fundraising Cookbook in the U.S.

Pat photographed the cover image and several other images inside the book. She and her BIL Don live in Kirkwood, Missouri. Pat has been an active member of the Herb Society for nearly 20 years.

Marian Mathews Hersrud, GX, Naples, Florida, has written her third novel “Everybody Knew Pete,” a mystery beginning in October of 1998 when teens Jenny and Erin sneak into a church. While in the bell tower, Jenny witnesses what she believes to be a man dragging the dead body of another man to a pier. The next day Peter Clampton turns up dead. Flash forward to present time when Jenny, a school teacher, wakes after a recurring nightmare about the incident, and decides to go back to her hometown, Sowatna, Maine, to learn the truth and dispel the night terrors. In Sowatna, Jenny meets Miami crime reporter Charlie Brewster there completing his play about the murder. Trouble ensues as Jenny and Charlie develop a hot and cold relationship.

Marian (“Mattie”) grew up in Minneapolis, Minnesota, attended Carleton College and graduated from the University of Minnesota. She married her BIL Morris during World War II and moved to South Dakota where they raised four children. Marian served on the Board of Regents of Higher Education and helped develop a four-year medical school at the University of South Dakota. Marian has also written two other novels, “Sweet Thunder” and “Spirits and Black Leather.”

Joanna V. Hunter, BW, Wisconsin, has written “But He’ll Change: End the Thinking That Keeps You in an Abusive Relationship” a self-help book offering information and guidance to women in physically or emotionally abusive relationships. Joanna uses expert advice in addition to her own story and the stories of other women who have survived or turned away from domestic violence. In her book, Joanna helps readers face their problems head on, and identify trouble areas as well as teaching patience and forgiveness. Through this book, Joanna hopes to help women in abusive relationships build strength and hope in order to shed the victim role and become survivors who understand their power to change their lives.

Joanna, an abuse survivor herself, speaks, volunteers and trains on domestic violence, working with victims and those who serve them.

Sally Petersen, FC, Vancouver, Washington, has written “Tea Pie, Love and Reality” a collection of memoir essays in miniature form. In her book, Sally delivers vignettes of human experiences such as love, loss, friendship and the extra tidbits that create a full life. Readers may choose a brief taste of life, reading only one, or they may indulge and read several, one right after the other.

Sally, raised in the Midwestern plains of Nebraska, is a former journalist, columnist and essayist who writes about everyday experiences. Now Sally lives with her BIL Jim, also a writer, in Oregon’s wine country between the coast and mountains. 🍹
Kathryn Proctor Daux, BE, Eau Claire, Wisconsin, was recently elected and installed as president-elect of the National Association of Teachers of Singing (NATS) at the national conference in Salt Lake City. NATS is the largest association of voice professionals in the world. Kathryn is a Professor Emerita of Music at the University of Wisconsin, Eau Claire, Wisconsin. She holds a bachelor’s degree from Austin College, Sherman, Texas, a master’s of fine arts degree from the University of Minnesota and a doctor of musical arts degree from the University of Iowa.

Kathryn has been a voice teacher for nearly 40 years. She is a charter member of the Wisconsin State Chapter of NATS, serving in several offices including chapter president and Wisconsin governor of NATS.

Kathryn has performed with the Minnesota Orchestra, the Milwaukee Opera, the Florentine Opera, the Minnesota Bach Society, the Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra, Dallas Summer Musicals, Wisconsin Public Radio, the Oshkosh Symphony, the Chippewa Valley Symphony, the Eau Claire Chamber Orchestra, Zeitgeist and she has sung many recitals in the Midwest.

Her students are successful teachers, music therapists and performers, including a Metropolitan Opera winner and several international artists in opera and musical theater.

Nancy Thies Marshall, BQ, Salem, Oregon, has been named a World Acrobatic Legend by the World Acrobatic Society. Nancy traveled to Las Vegas for the hall of fame induction ceremony. She was a member of the 1972 U.S. Olympic gymnastics team, which finished in fourth-place at the Munich Games. Nancy has worked as a broadcaster for NBC Sports and spent many years on boards and projects for U.S.A. Gymnastics. One of her key roles was as the director of a program on athletic wellness that addressed gymnastic-related issues such as eating disorders and osteoporosis.

Nancy earned degrees in history and journalism from the University of Illinois. She lives in Salem with her husband Charlie and is the mother of three.

Lauren Kuhn, Chapter T, Hoquiam, Washington, has been crowned Miss Seattle 2011. She will be competing in the Miss Washington Scholarship Pageant in July. The Miss Washington Pageant is an official preliminary to the Miss America Pageant.

Lauren is a third generation member of Chapter T, a P.E.O. STAR Scholarship recipient and is earning As at Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington, where she is studying to be an orthodontist. She is living her platform of promoting volunteering by helping many non-profit organizations, including the Stafford Creek Correctional Center, where she helped update the Volunteer Opportunities at Grays Harbor brochure.

Lori Hansen, K, Yankton, South Dakota, is the first female dean of Sanford School of Medicine clinical campus in South Dakota. Lori is a pulmonologist at Yankton Medical Clinic and is the nation’s leading expert on integrated longitudinal education, an alternative model for medical education in which students get a more real-life experience of what it’s like to practice medicine. This program format grounds students academically and professionally, which assists them in securing the residency program of their choice.

Lori is sought after to speak both domestically and internationally on the topic of integrated longitudinal education. She recently traveled to Australia where she presented at the Consortium of Longitudinal Integrated Clerkship Conference. In 2011, she will facilitate the annual Conference of Longitudinal Integrated Clerkship in her hometown of Yankton, South Dakota, hosting many international visitors.

Celebrate 50 Years of the P.E.O. Executive Office Building with the Tour DVD

50 years ago the cornerstone was placed for the P.E.O. Executive Office at 3700 Grand Avenue in Des Moines, Iowa. The headquarters of P.E.O. International, this building really belongs to all P.E.O.s!

Great for those who can’t make it to Des Moines to see the building in person, as a way to remember your visit if you have been here or for an interesting program at a chapter meeting, the DVD takes viewers on a virtual tour of The P.E.O. Executive Office.

Included on the disc are:
- Centennial Conference Center
- Executive board room
- Library
- Chapel
- Offices of the P.E.O. philanthropies

Available now, the DVDs are $15. Visit peointernational.org or call 515-255-3153 to order.

Incredible
a P.E.O. you should know

Patricia Quinlisk
Chapter IE, Des Moines, Iowa
Initiation date: May 12, 1982

Patricia (Patty) Quinlisk grew up in La Crosse, Wisconsin, and is now the Iowa state epidemiologist and medical director of the Iowa Department of Health. She investigates the causes and sources of disease outbreaks, decides how to handle them and communicates with the public to make sure the sick get treatment and warn people about future risks.

Who introduced you to P.E.O.?
I joined my mother’s chapter, BI, La Crosse, Wisconsin, when I came home from the Peace Corps. My little sister Barbara Helgeson is in P.E.O. too (Chapter DC, Onalaska, Wisconsin).

What’s the best part about being in P.E.O.?
P.E.O. is a great way to meet people and get to know people. The points in my life when I have been really active in P.E.O. were when I was new in town. My work requires me to travel quite a bit so I never know when I will make a meeting, but the current president of my chapter and I go to the same exercise class so I see her and other women from my chapter around town, which is always fun.

Where did you get your education and training for your career?
I started at Saint Olaf College. I went there for two years and spent a term in the Far East—Taiwan, Japan and Thailand. When I came back, I attended the University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point for two years.
I attended grad school at John Hopkins University and graduated medical school at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.
I always knew that I wanted to do something in the field of science. I always liked science and math—things that weren’t really in style at the time if you were a girl. When I was at Stevens Point, I thought I would be a forest ranger or do something with soil management. The courses I took toward that goal made it clear that there wouldn’t be many jobs in those fields so I knew I needed something to fall back on.
Then I went through a training program as a medical technologist and worked for about a year before I joined the Peace Corps. I was in Nepal from 1979-1982, where my primary job was to work in laboratories and to train locals to run the lab. In the village I lived there were other labs that needed assistance, so I helped where I could, including in the tuberculosis control program. I also did work for the Save the Children Fund UK clinic, helping to feed malnourished children.

What do you like to do in your free time?
I like to hike—I have hiked in several U.S. National Parks, including Bryce Canyon and Zion National Park. I have hiked to the bottom of the Grand Canyon and back. I’ve started going all over the world to hike, including Canada, Switzerland, France, Morocco and North Vietnam. I enjoy hiking because it is so different than what I do day-to-day—I get to see beautiful scenery, birds, plants and animals—and don’t have to think too much. Since cell phones usually don’t work in such remote locations, people can’t call me.
I also enjoy gardening—it is my mental release on weekends. I have a small yard with almost no grass left because I have turned so much of it into garden. I grow tomatoes, peppers and onions.
I have joined a fitness boot camp, which I attend five to six nights a week—I am trying to get into better shape. And I have recently been getting more involved with community activities; I have joined a local park board and am enjoying that.
P.E.O. Scholar Awards
As you begin to identify women to nominate for the next cycle of P.E.O. Scholar Awards (nomination window is August 20, 2011–November 20, 2011) please make sure they are: (1) a U.S. or Canadian citizen; and (2) on track to complete their doctoral level degrees or postdoctoral research between April 2013 and August 2014. A candidate in a Medical Scholars program working on a joint M.D. and Ph.D. must be scheduled to complete the entire program (both degrees) by these dates.

Electronic Applications for PCE
Effective September 1, 2011, only electronic/online applications will be accepted by the PCE office. All paper applications will be returned to the chapter unprocessed. The online application and instructions are available on the PCE link at peointernational.org.

Emailing Chapter Minutes
As stated in the Instructions to Officers of Local Chapter, Recording Secretary’s information, minutes of the local chapter shall not be sent to members of the chapter by postal service, email or fax except between the president, recording secretary and their pro tems.

Emailing to keep chapter members informed of chapter activities is widespread, but remember that minutes may contain membership sensitive information. In addition, minutes have the potential to contain private chapter information that is reported in a way more specific (and with names attached) than if the same information were to be summarized. Emails have the inherent component for easy, inadvertent distribution with unintended consequences. Private chapter official business, even the balance in the treasury, should not be potentially available to a mass audience.

Chapter newsletters are prepared with a different perspective of sharing information and motivation. Consider this venue as a way to keep your members informed.

Spring Convention Mailing
Every state/provincial/district (s/p/d) president has been sent enough packets of project information cards to distribute one to each chapter in the s/p/d.

Email Scams
We have received complaints of hackers using a member’s email contacts to send fraudulent notices to many of our members. These usually indicate the member is out of the country, is in danger and needs money.

Delete the email and do not answer it. Your computer will not get a virus. The person whose system has been compromised, however, will need to have her computer checked. She should also change all of her passwords, e.g., for email, internet access and hardware.

Gatherings Away from Home
If you are interested in attending a P.E.O. function while out of town, don’t forget to check the members’ side of the website under REFERENCE LISTINGS and click on Gatherings Away from Home and you will find a listing of events.

If your chapter or a group of chapters in your area plans seasonal events for visiting P.E.O.s and you would like to be listed, please send the information to mknee@peodsm.org.

The P.E.O. Record on Tape/CD
For information regarding The P.E.O. Record on tape or CD, please contact Anne Vaeth, 11321 Craig, Overland Park, KS 66210., akv@everestkc.net. This service for our visually impaired sisters is provided free of charge by Chapter DO, Kansas City, Missouri.

Supply Postage Charge
Due to ongoing postage increases, the P.E.O. Supply Department will implement the following postage rates for orders received on or after July 1, 2011:

- Supply orders under $10 = $3 postage
- Supply orders of $10 or more = $5 postage
Local chapters and members have once again come through with dedication, hard work and financial contributions for our projects and recipients. With your commitment, we can be proud of our current philanthropic impact:

Cottey College—approximately 8,300 women from all the 50 states and from over 85 different countries have graduated since the first class in 1887. The College has been owned and operated by P.E.O. since 1927.

Total assistance—we have given $210 million in financial assistance to more than 85,000 recipients of the ELF, IPS, PCE, PSA and STAR projects.

- P.E.O. Educational Loan Fund loans are more than $130 million since 1907.
- P.E.O. International Peace Scholarships are $27 million since 1949.
- P.E.O. Program for Continuing Education grants are more than $38 million since 1973.
- P.E.O. Scholar Awards are more than $14 million since 1991.
- P.E.O. STAR Scholarships are more than $1 million since 2009.

An important component of our financial structure now celebrating its 50th anniversary, the P.E.O. Foundation has grown to nearly $77 million in more than 890 funds since 1961.

Thank you!
