Layout and design of The P.E.O. Record by Allison Vial
In my recent visits with state, provincial and district chapter leaders, I asked about experiences they’ll remember from this historic time and silver linings that had graced them. The word “connection” seemed to be on everyone’s list. Connections with family, friends and sisters—connections that created new beginnings. New traditions. New ways of doing old things.

P.E.O. historians will look back at this biennium to discover that the P.E.O. Sisterhood was proactive and forward-thinking. We took on the negatives and, while it was a bit scary at times, walked the positive path forward together. We created new ways to reach more sisters. We built new building blocks for creating virtual content to share with sisters throughout the world. We lived history as it was thrust upon us—our loving concern shown within each local chapter, strengthening the connections with sisters we hold so dear.

When the Sisterhood looks back, memories of the past two years might include these words…

...remember when we couldn’t meet in-person
...remember when we dug through our sewing baskets to find elastic for face masks
...remember when we played bingo online the first time
...remember when we learned how to mute, to unmute, to chat by typing and add virtual backgrounds
...remember when we gathered online with sisters from throughout Canada and the United States and learned the tips and tricks of decorating cupcakes
...remember when we participated in the online painting events. Stars and daisy still lifes were favorite subjects
...remember when we initiated our sisters through affirmation
...remember when...

While in so many ways this biennium has been challenging, we who are sisters experienced the silver linings of very dark times and took positive action. The history of the biennium will be laced with the words “remember when” but the legacy of the biennium, as of the Sisterhood, will be the positive path forward we took.

Thank you for continually Building Your Legacy and Making History!

REACH OUT

It’s all about scholarships, right? So what could be more natural than to reach out to other organizations that sponsor scholarships? Therein lies a goldmine for P.E.O. The question is, will they share our scholarship information with their applicants? I intended to find out.

Our nearby country library gave high school senior scholarships, so I reached out to their scholarship chair telling her about P.E.O. scholarships and asking if I could meet with her and her committee to share my information. They gratefully took P.E.O. brochures and shared them with their high school girl applicants. At the end of the meeting I told the committee that if they’d like to know more about P.E.O., I’d love to tell them. One of the women quickly responded, “I’d love to hear about it!” She is now one of my chapter’s most active, motivated, dedicated members.

The moral of this story? Reach out and share P.E.O. with any organization in which women apply for scholarships. Also, when with others, let them know that you’d love to share information about the special organization you belong to that fulfills you and makes a monumental difference in women’s lives. REACH OUT!

Honoring All Who Are Sisters

Chapter FU in Anamosa, Iowa, had been looking forward to our 100th anniversary on April 30, 2021; then COVID-19 came and everything changed! We plan to hold an in-person event to observe our 100th anniversary in 2022, but we did not want to let that special date in our history pass without recognition. A group came together and wrote a short letter to share with our sisters. Members of our social committee delivered the letter with a cupcake to our chapter sisters.

Included in that letter is a special poem written by a long-time member of our chapter, Marilyn Lambertson. — Nancy Mulford, FU, Anamosa, Iowa

SHADOWS IN THE LOOKING GLASS

by Marilyn Lambertson, FU, Anamosa, Iowa

When my looking glass is tilted just the right way; when morning’s filtered light catches the finest of details; when a passing glance is held captive a bit longer than the usual fleeting moment; it is then that the shadows appear. I see shadows of cherished women in my life, each with her own story, each bringing a humble depth of character to my reflection.

In my looking glass, I see shadows of my grandmothers, my mother and my husband’s mother all with memories and traditions cultivated in the past. I see my daughter, my daughters-in-law and granddaughters who lovingly carry these treasures forward into the future.

And sometimes, when the light in my looking glass is just right, I see shadows of my sisters, those from birth and those from common paths. With my sisters, I share a faith in God and love for all, a hope for purity and justice in thoughts and deeds, and a desire to be true to self and to each other. Once upon a time, seven ageless women could foresee the wealth of strength and spirit in a bond between sisters and we will forever keep them close in heart.

And on a very special day, when my looking glass is tilted just the right way, I see shadows of all these lovely women, shadows bound by golden ties in a patchwork of friendship and love; a reflection that radiates all light possible in their lives and in mine.

Every summer Chapter WY, Diamond Bar, California, celebrates all of our sisters’ birthdays during our unbirthday social. This year we celebrated unbirthdays and unmaskings at the same time. We all arrived with masks, captured a ceremonial photo and gratefully replaced our masks with smiles and hugs. We also took the opportunity to initiate a mask decorating contest. What a relief and pleasure to join hands and hearts after a tedious in-person drought!

Letter from the Editor

As editor of The P.E.O. Record, the official publication of the P.E.O. Sisterhood, it is my honor to put together a magazine that highlights the many facets of our shared mission of Women Helping Women Reach for the Stars. It is wonderful to receive material submitted by sisters from all walks of life. Sharing the experiences and accomplishments of our members and project recipients is what makes The P.E.O. Record so special. We strive to publish a variety of submissions and are always looking for a unique mix of stories to blend with our regular features.

With only six issues a year and a finite amount of space in each issue, it is impossible to share all the articles and letters we receive. The most difficult part of my job is deciding what to publish; luckily, this is not something I have to do alone! The second vice president of International Chapter serves as liaison to The P.E.O. Record; she reviews submissions, provides valuable input and helps make decisions about whether or not to run something.

Most material doesn’t get published because of space constraints; we have to make judgment calls about subject matter that may or may not be of general interest to a large number of our readers. Timeliness is another factor we must take into account; because the magazine is published bi-monthly and material is due two months prior to publication, many submissions unfortunately fall into the category of “old news.” In addition, some submissions don’t get published because they violate a policy of the Sisterhood—for example, they may be considered debate on an amendment to the constitution that hasn’t been voted upon yet, compromising the parliamentary process. As Instructions to Officers of Local Chapters reads, “guidance from Robert’s Rules tell us that it is essential that every side has an equal opportunity to explain pros/cons during debate. Therefore, discussion about the merits of or concerns with amendments shall be avoided until all sides can be heard during debate at convention.” At the discretion and direction of the editor and the executive board, The P.E.O. Record may or may not print submissions in response to previously-published content.

We truly love hearing from you, our readers and sisters! Thanks to member submissions, The Record has evolved and grown into a magazine we can all be proud of; with your continued support, we look forward to producing a quality publication for years to come!

The P.E.O. Record

On the first weekend of October, the blue skies of New Mexico will be filled with hundreds of colorful hot air balloons as the Albuquerque International Balloon Fiesta launches its 49th season. A highlight of this year’s event will be the artwork of Albuquerque Chapter AD member Jane Maclean—five panels, together measuring six feet by 20 feet, on display at the nearby Anderson-Abruzzo International Balloon Museum. These immersive paintings replicate memorable scenes of past Fiestas, and invite visitors and balloonists from across the United States and many foreign countries to experience the enchantment of preparations for take-off and the very magic of ballooning.

Jane conceived of the paintings and their name following a brief encounter with the Dean of Westminster Abbey, whom she met in London soon after his return from a trip to the United States. His delight at having been a spectator at the Fiesta made Jane aware of its universal appeal and inspired her to use her gifts as an artist to share those captivating images with people all over the world and to title her work “MAGIC.”

“MAGIC” is not Jane’s only work on display in a public building. In 2003 she was commissioned by the county manager of Sandoval County, New Mexico, to produce artwork using pastels for the rotunda of the new judicial building. "MAGIC" by P.E.O. Jane Maclean will be featured at the 49th annual International Balloon Fiesta in Albuquerque, New Mexico.
complex. Jane created three paintings, each depicting a collection of objects significant in the history of the county, from Native American traditions to the territorial period before New Mexico statehood. These paintings and “MAGIC” are not based on photographs or pictures, but spring from Jane’s imagination and her desire to convey the emotional as well as the tangible dimensions of the subjects.

Jane’s love of painting has been her constant companion since her talents were recognized and encouraged by a first-grade teacher. Although she decided, for practical reasons, not to pursue a career as an artist and trained instead as a dental hygienist, she often used her spare time for painting. While she was busy raising a family, and during her fulfilling tenure as a periodontal therapist, she continued to take an occasional painting class, meet with other artists in a weekly study group and explore new methods and techniques. Working in pastels and oils, she enjoys all aspects of the creative process. Retirement has allowed her to devote much more time to that lifelong passion.

Retirement also brought Jane the gift of P.E.O. sisterhood. Since joining five years ago, she has discovered the appreciation and support of her sisters, and in return has enriched the life of Chapter AD. Her notecards, depicting vignettes from “MAGIC,” served as quick-selling silent-auction items during intermissions in the chapter’s fundraising musicales. As part of the chapter’s membership committee, Jane has been vital in locating non-attending (and seemingly lost) sisters and she has been active on the program, education and social committees. For Jane, the most meaningful benefit of P.E.O. sisterhood is its fostering of personal connections, giving her the opportunity to rekindle old friendships and forge lasting new ones.

The idea of personal connections also inspires Jane’s art. When talking about “MAGIC,” she says, “This is a painting that in many ways painted itself. It tells its own exuberant and sometimes emotional story. Although the tale of the Albuquerque International Balloon Fiesta began in 1972 with 13 balloons, it now features hundreds of balloons and belongs to the world.” That’s MAGIC! ★
Two young women sat on the stile at Iowa Wesleyan in January of 1869. They were discussing what to do about a new I.C. Sorosis organization (later to become the Pi Beta Phi fraternity for women). These two women had been invited, but not all their very close–knit group of seven had been included. That very day Hattie Briggs and Franc Roads decided that the seven had such a strong bond of friendship that it was all or nothing—since all were not invited, none would join. That is when Hattie said, “Let’s start a society of our own.” At that Franc responded, “Let’s go find the others.” One hundred and fifty two responded, “Let’s go find the society of our own.” At that Franc Roads said, “Let’s start a Pi Beta Phi fraternity for women). This organization (later to become the Pi Beta Phi fraternity for women) was the first of its kind to offer educational opportunities for women. It was formed by seven women who were looking for ways to help other women achieve their educational goals. Let them know that membership is an option now or in the future.

Have you ever been in the grocery store after a P.E.O. meeting and are still wearing your P.E.O. pin? Next thing you know, someone comes up to you and asks what does the pin mean? Are you ready to tell them? Do you have your elevator speech prepared? Mine is, “P.E.O. provides educational opportunities for women. We do this by providing scholarships, grants, awards and loans to help women enhance their lives through learning.” If you have trouble remembering that, just say, “We are Women Helping Women Reach for the Stars” and say it with a huge smile on your face!

At that point they may ask, what does that mean? This is where you make it personal. Besides letting women know about our wonderful scholarships and grants, tell them your P.E.O. story. How long have you been a P.E.O., why did you decide to become a member and what is it that you love the most about P.E.O. and makes you remain an active member? It’s your story, so polish up the reasons you love P.E.O. and be ready to share them. Give the woman you are talking to the same kind of love and caring that we receive from our sisters. Talk to her honestly and with passion about the Sisterhood. Follow up by providing her with more information. If she shows interest, invite her to your next social and introduce her to your chapter sisters.

Let’s talk about how to introduce friends to your own chapters. In today’s world of virtual meetings and socially distanced gatherings, it looks a little different. Whether your potential new member is a project candidate or recipient, a family member or neighbor, someone introduced through the Introduction of a Woman Not a P.E.O. form, or a colleague, it is important that she meet and get to know your chapter sisters. Those virtual meetings are especially helpful for introducing potential members. Keep your options and your mind open to new ideas as we meet differently today and make this new technology work for you!

When we invite women to join P.E.O., our description of what it means and what we do must be so enticing that they will view our Sisterhood as being worthy of their time and effort. When you take the time to invite new members, reengage nonparticipating members, welcome back inactive members, connect with unaffiliated members, and create an inviting atmosphere in your meetings and socials, you can’t help but ignite or reignite the spark of P.E.O. in each sister’s heart which is truly the power of P.E.O.!
It is with mixed emotions that the Cottey College Board of Trustees announces the retirement of President Jann Rudd Weitzel. Her retirement will be effective June 30, 2022. We congratulate Jann and wish her and her husband, Jack, a well-deserved retirement.

Dr. Weitzel became the 12th president of Cottey College in 2015. She is also a 31-year member of P.E.O. She passionately believes in the value of a women’s institution that is founded on a strong liberal arts and sciences program coupled with excellent instruction, and she has worked to ensure that level of excellence is reflected in the Cottey curriculum. She has fostered an academic and student life environment that helps prepare each student to be a globally aware and socially responsible leader in her career and in her life. Her commitment to the students personifies Cottey’s goal of “Creating Incredible Futures.”

The Board of Trustees and the Campus Community will lose a dedicated and compassionate leader in our retiring president. The list of Dr. Weitzel’s accomplishments during her tenure as president of Cottey College is long and varied. We are grateful for the exceptionally generous manner in which she shared her time and energy. Her charismatic passion for our college and its students will be sorely missed.

We know that all members of the campus community will join the Board of Trustees in congratulating Dr. Weitzel on her success as President of Cottey College and wish Jann and Jack happiness in a well-deserved retirement. We know each and every member of our community will continue to support Dr. Weitzel in her final year as president of Cottey College.

Her commitment to the students personifies Cottey’s goal of “Creating Incredible Futures.”

October is Let’s Go Find the Others Month

Can you imagine the excitement our Founders felt when they decided to create P.E.O.? It’s written that Franc Roads immediately said “Let’s go find the others.” She couldn’t wait to invite their other friends! How could our Founders have known their efforts would yield such an enduring philanthropic organization?

We want to recapture our Founders’ loyalty and enthusiasm with our annual “Let’s Go Find the Others” month. During the month of October, sisters are encouraged to introduce P.E.O. to friends and family members who would embrace the values and support the mission of our Sisterhood. This is also a great time to reach out to non-participating sisters and those who have gone inactive.

More information and helpful resources are available on the P.E.O. member website at https://members.peointernational.org/membership.
Spotlight on Community Service Projects

As the coronavirus pandemic has impacted our everyday lives for more than a year, many people have learned what P.E.O.s have always known—that it’s our duty to lift up and help those around us however we can. We know P.E.O.s have a sincere regard for the Sisterhood’s influence in the community and you, and your local chapters, strive to make positive impacts in your communities, not only in times of crisis, but at all times. We heard from many sisters and chapters about the good work they have done for local philanthropic and educational endeavors. We’re pleased to share a small selection of them here.

Vaccine Site Volunteers
In April, members of Chapter JD, Fredericksburg Texas, volunteered at a regional COVID-19 vaccination center during the first two morning shifts. They worked as check-in personnel, room monitors and vaccinators with those receiving their COVID-19 vaccine. It was a rewarding experience and enhanced their spirit of sisterhood.

Blankets for Children in Need
Four years ago the members of Chapter BK, White Plains, New York, expressed their desire to undertake a local service project to supplement the core P.E.O. goal of supporting women’s scholarships through donations and sponsoring candidates. The chapter chose to make blankets for children in need and started hosting blanket-making days, to which members, prospective members and friends could be invited.

The first blanket-making day resulted in the completion of 20 no-sew fleece blankets. Each February since then, Chapter BK has held a blanket-making day with an increase in the number of blankets completed each year. And the event has also served as an opportunity to meet women who subsequently became chapter members.

Not to be deterred by the pandemic, Chapter BK held a virtual blanket-making day this year. Members were able to pick up blankets that were already prepped in the week before the event and drop them off the week after. A Zoom meeting was held to provide any further instruction needed and enabled the chapter and friends to socialize. The event resulted in the completion of 56 blankets, bringing the four-year total to 146!

Tending a Community Garden
For nearly 30 years on the first Saturday of June, the sisters of Chapter L, Loveland, Colorado, have voluntarily cared for the garden around “Rice Ritual,” a sculpture by Carla Knight.

An Ap-“peel”-ling Project
Since 2019, the Sisters of Chapter HC, Aurora, Illinois, have logged approximately 500 hours helping one of the area’s environmental non-profits repurpose broken crayons. Used crayons are sorted by color, peeled and melted in a slow cooker. The liquid crayon mixture is then poured into fun-shaped molds and allowed to cool. These new “super crayons” are given to local educators for students who need something larger to hold and/or are sensitive to the feel of paper. The super crayons are also combined with coloring books and donated to food banks to give to families with young children. In addition, activity packets are sent to over 60 hospitals across the United States to use as prizes for youth undergoing chemotherapy treatment.

Like everyone, Chapter HC had to make a slew of adjustments when the pandemic fully hit. One thing they lost was the ability to get together to sort crayons. To radiate all light possible, sisters continued with the crayon project from their own homes. Boxes and bags of pre-sorted crayons needing to be peeled were dropped at each volunteer’s doorstep. When finished, the crayons were taken to a specified sister’s house where she transformed them to super crayons.
Addressing Community Service Needs in Columbia, Missouri

About three years ago, Chapter LM, Columbia, Missouri, began looking for community service needs where they could make a difference in their community while also highlighting their amazing P.E.O. chapter. They looked for manageable projects that everyone could easily participate in. The chapter’s determination and enthusiasm for the following projects over the past three years has led to great success:

• Gathered winter clothing/blankets for the community collection drive. By digging through closets, members collected dozens of coats, blankets, gloves, etc. to help keep others warm while clearing out unused items.

• Contacted the area food bank and found they needed more peanut butter and cans of tuna; assembled over 120 items that members brought to a chapter meeting. It was easy and benefited many families.

• Collected over 30 pairs of previously-owned eye glasses, donated to a national eyeglass program. It was unused clutter that would now benefit others.

• A program was given at a chapter meeting by the executive director of a local shelter for abused women and children, who made the chapter aware of their need for personal hygiene items for clients. Chapter LM got busy collecting soap, shampoo, toothpaste and toothbrushes, etc. along with some monetary donations.

As chapter life starts to get back to normal, Chapter LM plans to resume this type of activity and, per the Objects and Aims, will continue to show a sincere regard for their impact in their own community while also sharing the P.E.O. story.

Community Outreach Committee

Chapter CC, Wenatchee, Washington, recently added a Community Outreach Committee to their list of 2020-2021 committees.

These are their projects:

• Design a type of information card to explain what P.E.O. is, and what our objects and aims are.

• Join an existing project called the Green Bag Project. Each sister is given a green, recyclable bag. The sister then purchases two extra items when they go grocery shopping. Those two items will be placed in the bag. At the end of six weeks, the bag will be picked up or delivered to one volunteer sister, who will deliver the full bag to the Community Action Center, who will then distribute the food to the local Food Bank, or whomever they designate. The sister is given a new bag when she delivers a full one.

• Recruit a local speaker who has expertise in volunteerism and can outline the importance of being community strong. That person will be part of the regular program at an upcoming meeting.

• Invite local P.E.O. chapters to join the chapter with their goals. Local P.E.O. presidents will be invited to the next Community Outreach Committee meeting

• Represent P.E.O. at a community luncheon at the Wenatchee State Apple Blossom Festival

Meadowlark Library Project

During the strange year of 2020, Missoula, Montana, Chapter AM sisters decided to undertake a community service project while usual face-to-face meetings and fundraisers were severely curtailed due to the pandemic. They decided to establish a library/reading room in the family housing wing of the new Meadowlark Center being constructed as a collaborative effort by a group of nonprofits. The chapter felt that supporting women and children who are homeless and/or subjected to domestic violence would fit the mission as an organization that is dedicated to furthering the education of women worldwide.

Chapter AM was assisted by several friends who built, stained and installed bookcases. Plaques were attached to each bookshelf, acknowledging the creation of the library by Chapter AM. Residents using the library include both adults and children ages 5-11 years, from diverse cultural backgrounds. Books are screened in order to both fulfill and be sensitive to a variety of needs.

It became apparent during discussions with the personnel at the center that they will continue to need volunteers of all sorts—for meal preparation and deliveries, tutors, readers to children and donations of toys. Chapter AM plans to maintain contact with the center’s staff over time to see how the P.E.O. library is being used and to determine future goals as a chapter for nurturing the continuation of this project.

Lynne Koester, Chapter AM, said, “This has turned out to be a very gratifying effort for Chapter AM, and one that has helped sustain us through the pandemic and during times when we saw very little of each other. Somehow, the commitment to improving the lives of women and children, of families in need in our community, proved to have a healing effect for all of us involved in supporting the new Meadowlark Center library.”

Finances & Services Policy

In keeping with the mission of P.E.O., the focus of chapter funds and fundraising activities shall be International Chapter projects, followed by state/provincial/district projects. To protect International Chapter’s tax exemption with the United States Internal Revenue Service, chapters must demonstrate the mission of P.E.O. through financial support. Therefore, P.E.O. dollars, offered and earned by members in the name of P.E.O., should be considered primarily for approved P.E.O. projects and/or the P.E.O. Foundation with minimal chapter funds used for outside philanthropic or local educational activities.

To strengthen P.E.O.’s visible influence in the community, chapters and chapter members are encouraged to offer their talents and skills, time and service for local philanthropic and educational endeavors.
While the world became overwhelmed with the COVID-19 pandemic, students were challenged with many questions and uncertainties. Many were completing school online and lacked access to academic counselors. Anxiety and depression over college/career increased as they struggled with how to apply for and fund a college education. Enter Wendi Fawns, a member of Chapter BV, Hamilton, Montana, since 2013, whose background in networking and youth support mirrors P.E.O. International project goals!

For 12 years, Wendi worked with middle and high school students in providing a free weekly meal in Corvallis, Montana. The students in Community Cooking Connections planned, prepared and served meals while learning valuable culinary arts, leadership, career exploration and scholarship preparation skills.

Wendi applied for and received a P.E.O. Program for Continuing Education (PCE) grant and a loan from the P.E.O. Educational Loan Fund (ELF). She successfully completed her master’s degree in education leadership from The University of Montana. Wendi became a P.E.O. sister and dove into the finer details of P.E.O. projects, devoting her time to helping students gain greater access to the P.E.O. STAR Scholarship, PCE grants and other scholarships.

Wendi works for Valley Oak Education Resource Center, a nonprofit 501(3)(c), helping students gain valuable insight into college/career resources, scholarships, internships and degrees. All services are free of charge. Wendi began Valley Oak in 2001, focusing on providing at-risk students with reading assistance. In 2007, the focus became service learning and civic engagement. Since 2010, she has provided programming focused on college/career access.

In her position as executive director/education coordinator, Wendi teaches students how to navigate the complex landscape of educational choices. She provides the tools to set goals, secure scholarships and internships, develop skills, assess college/career choices and ultimately to be successful within their unique educational and career pathways. This is accomplished through workshops, events and individual sessions. Ideally, students should become involved in this process before 12th grade. Wendi says, “Students and parents are shocked to hear that your senior year is the worst time to conduct scholarship and college funding. Students actually should be working in the 8th through 11th grades on projects that prepare them to be successful when applying for colleges and scholarships. A student with a high GPA who has not thought about volunteering and becoming active in their community until their senior year, falls short. The P.E.O. STAR Scholarship and many others require an incredible number of volunteer hours.”

Wendi is absolutely passionate about her time spent guiding students along their way to reach their educational goals. Students planning to further their education after high school learn how to prepare college and career portfolios, plus, develop an education plan. An internship can provide experiential learning and exposes students to a possible career path. To plan a career involves learning about career opportunities and one’s own interests.

Wendi connects an incredible variety of resources to students’ needs. Valley Oak collaborates with schools and organizations to help bring resources to students. As a result of COVID-19, Wendi began helping through expanded workshops and virtual meetings, which included individual college/career coaching and career events. It is not unusual to find her working late into the evening or on weekends, making every effort to accommodate student and parent schedules.

Through exceptional networking with P.E.O. sisters in other states, Wendi has linked several students to PCE, STAR, ELF and P.E.O. Scholar Awards. Never one to miss an opportunity to network, Wendi borrowed the mic and shared her knowledge to passengers and flight attendants on a flight while detained on the tarmac. As a result, three people were connected to PCE and one to STAR. Helping women out of state reach their educational goals has become normal. Sharing and linking women to educational resources is what P.E.O. sisters do. We develop an amazing network with our sisters throughout the United States and Canada.

“P.E.O. scholarships are so much more than money support,” said Wendi as she talked about the sisterly support she received throughout her master’s degree program. “My daughter Rebecca was given her student teaching assignment across the state two weeks before Christmas break. I reached out to P.E.O. sisters in the area and a wonderful retired teacher offered Rebecca housing two blocks from her assigned school! Later when she was awarded an Arts and Humanities Fellowship in Chicago, the P.E.O. sister network made her one month stay in an unfamiliar city rewarding.”

Wendi says the P.E.O. network is “simply amazing.”

“An educated population benefits EVERYONE not just the student and money is never the only valuable asset each of us has to offer others. I have received greatly from my P.E.O. sisters and I am blessed by God to be able to support P.E.O. efforts going forward.” – WENDI FAWS
WANT TO JUMP-START YOUR LEGACY? Have you looked into matching opportunities through your employer? This is a way to expand your philanthropic footprint and benefit P.E.O. at the same time.

Many employers offer matching gifts to qualified 501(c)(3) organizations. This could include the P.E.O. Foundation or any one of the P.E.O. projects or Cottey College. Participating employers will most often match an employee’s monetary gifts, but many also offer a match for an employee’s volunteer time. If you take advantage of the matching programs on an annual basis, you’ll see how fast your legacy grows!

Once you have confirmed your company has a matching gift program, please contact the P.E.O. Executive Office in Des Moines for more information. Please note that specific criteria for these programs is determined by each company and P.E.O. does not qualify for all matching gift programs.

DO IT SCARED: Building Your Public Speaking Skills

by Jennifer Mitchell, Chairman, P.E.O. Leadership Development Committee

The fear of public speaking is very common with some research ranking it higher than death, spiders or heights. Can you relate? Maybe you once gave a speech that did not go well. Maybe you are introverted and shy. Or maybe you are intimidated by other people’s talent in this area. The truth is that public speaking is a skill—and you can improve any skill. While some people may have more natural speaking ability than others, anyone can learn to be a better public speaker. It simply takes awareness and effort.

But how do you go about it? What are some practical tips to get over the jangle of nerves and doubts that can block your potential to be a confident, engaging, effective public speaker?

Write down your remarks.
This serves several purposes. It helps to organize your thoughts so that your speech is cohesive and targeted. Perhaps a little tongue-in-cheek, Mark Twain said, “It usually takes me more than three weeks to prepare a good impromptu speech.” His point is that no one wants to listen to rambling, chaotic murmurings. Refer to your written notes while you speak to keep you on track.

Practice your speech out loud. Rehearse your remarks so often that they are fluid and effortless. Then you can give your speech with only minimal reference to your notes. This helps engage your audience and is more natural. Practice like it is a performance. Stand, use appropriate gestures, look around the room and say the words with emphasis and feeling.

Beware of negative thoughts. Fear of judgment or negative evaluation by others disconnects us from our audience. That disconnection impacts the effectiveness of our message. Be aware of your inner critic and squash negative thoughts. Know and believe that your P.E.O. sisters have good intentions for you. They want you to be successful and they want to hear what you have to say. Breathe.

Focus on your message. What do you want the audience to go away with? What is the reason for your presentation? Is your goal to persuade, educate, entertain, honor or influence? Concentrate on what you are giving them, rather than how you are coming across or what they might be thinking about you. People who believe in the importance of their message and are intent in its delivery always have a stronger impact on their audience.

It is okay to be nervous about doing something outside your comfort zone.
After all, you are human! Know that public speaking gets easier with practice. Be gentle with yourself during the process—you will improve and you will grow. Be compassionate with yourself and create a space for yourself to learn. Embrace every speaking engagement as an opportunity for self-improvement.

“You can speak well if your tongue can deliver the message of your heart.” − JOHN FORD

A true story of the unparalleled love poured out on me, from our amazing Sisterhood...specifically P.E.O. Chapter JH, of Tomball, Texas. We are known as the “Joyful Hearts” and I pray that in the sharing of this story, you will witness the compassion, kindness, generosity, sacrifice, insightfulness and unconditional love generated in our Sisterhood.

A year ago, on Wednesday, July 22, 2020, the unexpected happened. My husband and I lost our entire home, all our vehicles and everything we had gathered over 50 years of marriage, to a fire. As we evacuated our home that morning we felt confident that the fire would be knocked down in the garage, but once the fire advanced into the attic, there was no hope. We watched in disbelief as our home was destroyed.

BUT, this story is of the beauty that sprang forth out of the ashes. We found God to be in every detail from the moment it started and while it was still burning, the sisters of Chapter JH were notified, the prayers began, the brainstorming of how best to help started and their hands and feet went to work. The amazing service of P.E.O. love penetrated our lives over and beyond the six months after this loss.

Within the first two weeks, we received phone calls, cards, gift cards, donations to our GoFundMe page and working hands and hearts. We were able to salvage quite a bit from our kitchen and butler’s pantry. At first, our immediate family set to work trying to clean and pack away what we could. It became evident that we were overwhelmed. A call was made to Chapter JH. A system was developed and 13 smoky boxes of possessions were distributed to 13 chapter members who either washed, cleaned, pitched or replaced many of our kitchen basics. I look back, embarrassed to have even asked for such sacrifice, but learning that people prayed as they tried to save parts of our lives meant so much.

In September, upon closing on our new home, Chapter JH arranged for a drive–by parade with balloons, horns and shouts of love. They presented me with a pair of boxing gloves that said “Joyful Hearts, Better together.” Each and every member of Chapter JH wrote a note of encouragement on the gloves, assuring me that I was not alone in this journey. Those gloves are permanently displayed in my home as a constant reminder of Chapter JH’s compassion. I wish I could fill these pages with the names of each and every sister of JH, because each one gifted me with their kindness and love.

I shared with chapter members that the idea of a Christmas tree in 2020 seemed impossible. However, because of the overwhelming outreach and love expressed by so many, the decision was made to create a “Blessing Tree” for Christmas, upon which the names of each and every person who had prayed, given, written, supported and expressed concern would be placed. Using wooden bead garland, names were printed on each bead. There were over 300 names on our “Blessing Tree.”

Every member of Chapter JH and many other P.E.O. sisters from around the country were included.

I wish I could fill these pages with the names of each and every sister of JH, because each one gifted me with their kindness and love.

My chapter sisters humbled me further by letting me know that they would be giving me a Christmas tree ornament shower in November. Due to the pandemic and our inability to meet in a large group, they once again organized, brainstormed and established four front porch drop points for sisters to drop off their wrapped ornaments.

Over the next two weeks, I unwrapped one or two ornaments a day, took pictures of each and shared them virtually with all the sisters in JH so they could see the beautiful blessings that would be added to the tree. Oh how I wanted to have an open house at Christmas for all to come see the glory of a tree totally created by “blessings.”

Due to COVID–19 it was not possible, but I hope that it will happen in 2021, as I have offered to host the December meeting this year.

I know that P.E.O. is a Philanthropic Education Organization to further the education of women. However, P.E.O. is so much more. Our Objects and Aims encompass what our Founders declared as good and right. They called us to Faith, Love, Purity, Justice and Truth. The greatest of these is LOVE, and we do it with abandon. From one who has been and continues to be totally humbled by the provision and outreach of this sisterhood, I encourage all members to share this amazing organization with other women. It is a gift, one that was passed down to me through several generations. My desire now, is to somehow pay it forward. The example set and the actions taken by the “Joyful Hearts” of Chapter JH, Tomball, Texas, make for the penetrating light of the star that shone on top of my Blessing Tree. Thank you P.E.O. ★
Every generation inherits its legacy, and it is the duty of each generation to add to that legacy. The legacy of the Educational Loan Fund (ELF), P.E.O.’s oldest philanthropy, is to support women in their educational pursuits with low interest rate loans. In 2020, the ELF Board of Trustees enabled local chapters to build their own legacy by supporting future generations of women learners as a P.E.O. Legacy Chapter. A chapter that makes a lump sum contribution of $500 or more will be designated an ELF Legacy Chapter.* With gratitude, the trustees are pleased to announce that 348 local chapters have attained Legacy status for 2020–2021!

In 2019, the P.E.O. Sisterhood observed our Sesquicentennial Anniversary—150 years of celebrating, educating and motivating women! Through your remarkable generosity, $1,174,742.80 was contributed to the 150 Fund with $157,437.13 allocated to each of the six P.E.O. projects to use in a way that honored the sesquicentennial. The ELF trustees chose to utilize these funds by awarding additional loans to worthy applicants.

While reviewing loan applications during the 2020-2021 fiscal year, extraordinary applicants who embodied the true spirit of P.E.O. were recognized and awarded loans through this special funding. Please join the ELF trustees in congratulating the following ELF 150 Fund loan recipients (due to privacy considerations, loan recipient names are not disclosed):

- recipient sponsored by Chapter EJ, Syracuse, Indiana, who is receiving her teaching certification;
- recipient sponsored by Chapter J, Huntsville, Alabama, who will become an emergency room physician with her M.D. degree;

The past months have encouraged many of us to look at previous methods of addressing needs in new and updated ways. As we look back over the years, Cottey was pleased to offer “C” for Yourself! and summer programming for students to come to campus as a group to learn about all that Cottey has to offer. It was a great opportunity and served the purpose of encouraging students to see and experience our college.

Now, however, we recognize that the methods prospective students use to find their college match are changing. No longer do students flock to college fairs for information; rather, they pick up their phones or other electronic devices and use search engines to input terms that will allow them to instantaneously find colleges that meet their goals. Additionally, our world continues to consider concerns related to mass events and the possible spreading of illness.

Cottey recognizes these new methods and concerns and we understand that as a college, we need to be flexible and create experiences that meet the needs of current students. Therefore, we are very excited to offer a new type of recruiting event, one tailored to the prospective student so that she can experience Cottey on a personalized level.

Cottey is shifting to an event called Experience Cottey, an individualized, year-round visit opportunity for high school girls. Students may reach out to Cottey to schedule a visit that will come with:

- One free hotel room for students who are located 100 miles or greater from campus
- Lunch in Raney Dining Room (expenses paid for by the College for student and parents) with a Golden Key (current Cottey student) and to ask any questions they may have
- Meeting with the President (if she is on campus and available)
- Visit bag with Cottey goodies
- Reserved parking space during the visit
- Photo on campus
- Spirit Shop coupon
- Chellie Club coffee shop drink

Students will also be given the opportunity to meet with a faculty member or attend a class if they choose to do so.

Students may bring guests to experience Cottey along with them. Students who visit and who subsequently enroll will earn a $1,500 annual scholarship for up to four years, so a total of $6,000! To register, students should complete the form on the Cottey website at cottey.edu/visit.

Additionally, Cottey will continue to offer Scholars Day from October 1 to November 30, 2021, and again in February 2022. High academic achievers are invited to attend Cottey’s Scholars Day either in person or via Zoom. This event is designed to celebrate high school achievements and reward students with the opportunity to earn up to a full tuition scholarship through an essay competition and interviews with current Cottey scholars and faculty.

The requirements to qualify are listed below:

- 3.75 GPA or higher and
- Current resume and
- Acceptance notification from Cottey

Students will receive an invitation to attend.

Questions can be directed to the Office of Enrollment Management via email at admit@cottey.edu or by phone at 888-526-8839 or 417-448-1437.

In April 2022, high school juniors and seniors, high school class of 2022 and 2023, will be eligible to participate in our virtual Emerging Leaders Symposium. The symposium is designed to prepare students for college and the workforce through various sessions. For questions, contact the Office of Enrollment Management via email at admit@cottey.edu or by phone at 888-526-8839 or 417-448-1437.

It is Cottey’s goal to provide prospective students with personalized visits and to communicate with them in the manner they prefer. We continue to encourage our P.E.O. sisters to refer students to Cottey by sharing names and contact information. Tips and suggestions for promoting Cottey to prospective students or their family members can be found at cottey.edu/peo. We appreciate every single lead sent our way.

Thank you for your loving support of Cottey College as we work together to create incredible futures. ★
Rebecca Allan, an International Peace Scholarship (IPS) recipient from the UK, is pursuing her Ph.D. in chemistry at the University of Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Rebecca is grateful for the monetary support as well as the love and support from her Partners in Peace chapters. She states, “I have absolutely loved getting to know inspiring women across the United States of America and Canada, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic. I didn’t expect how comforting it would be knowing I had kind women so ‘close’ to me although contact has remained virtual.

“I can’t put into words what it means to have my P.E.O. family. The funding I received was immensely useful and meant that I didn’t need to take time away from my research. I still need to tutor a small amount to make ends meet, but the funding I was generously given has made a huge impact. I am very grateful.”

Rebecca’s research into groundbreaking cancer treatments was inspired by a bone cancer diagnosis in her 14-year-old sister. In 2017 she designed a compound/molecule RA65, to treat Medulloblastoma, stage 4 brain cancer. That research is soon to be published. Another molecule she designed and synthesized, RA225 shows promise in killing fibrolamellar carcinoma cancer cells for treating liver cancer, a first of its kind, discovered in September of 2020. She continues her research into cancer treatments, most recently targeting a mutation occurring within the Krebs Cycle which prevents cancers from responding to chemo treatments. If the mutation can be blocked with an inhibitor (which has been successful) then patients should respond to conventional therapies.

Rebecca is just one example of an IPS recipient studying during this unusual time. As IPS nears the end of this biennium, we reflect on what has been accomplished with dedication, persistence and love. IPS students have come from all over the world (179 countries since 1949), bringing their culture and talents, to share with P.E.O.s along with a desire for education in the United States and Canada. IPS students make a commitment to return to their home countries to become powerful influencers not only in their home and community, but often at a governmental-level, influencing policy change. Even during the most trying times of the COVID-19 pandemic, these students persevered in their educational goals, as they were able, and those who were forced to postpone their journey have retained their focus on education.

IPS is unique from other P.E.O. projects as the Partners in Peace (PIP) program is not only an opportunity to honor those chapters who make a $500 contribution to IPS but to promote peace and friendships as PIP chapters are matched with a student, often developing a special bond. It is heartwarming when students relate that they have learned so much from their experiences with chapter members; having lunch or sharing a special holiday tradition with their chapters. This program has become so popular that, currently, students are being matched with five or six chapters from all over the U.S. and Canada. Technology has enabled chapters to develop and create relationships with students even though the student may be studying far away. Students share how grateful they are as they learn about the different regions in North America through a variety of chapter placements.

In the COVID-19 era, technology makes one realize how easy it might be to continue developing outreach to other countries. Wouldn’t it be wonderful if IPS students are invited to join a local chapter while they are students in the U.S. and Canada, only to return to their home country to share the love and caring of P.E.O.; possibly creating groups of their own to spread the uniqueness of our Sisterhood? Could this be a crystal ball into the future? ★
Chapter DQ, Corvallis, Oregon, a daytime chapter of 60, empowers a team—called the education team—to determine which project is best suited for the women the chapter sponsors. Education team members Nancy Evans, Priscilla Nelson and Susan Leding, past president of Oregon state chapter, place a high priority on finding candidates to sponsor. For years they worked closely with Kim McAlexander, former head advisor, College of Public Health and Human Sciences at Oregon State University. Kim knew about the many students Chapter DQ had recommended for P.E.O. grants and scholarships through her friendship with Nancy Evans and kept her eyes open for women in need. Kim introduced the education team to Kendra Stubbs, who they found to be courageous, selfless, loving and worthy of a P.E.O. grant. Kim has since become a member of Chapter DQ.

At age 10, Kendra was told her mom was a drug addict. “I remember feeling confused, angry and hurt so I locked myself in the bathroom and sobbed,” Kendra recalled. “When I emerged, I expected my mom to feel remorse for having clearly let me down but instead she was mad at me; she told me to grow up. The next few years my mom struggled with homelessness as she battled her drug addiction and gave birth to two more children. So, I can’t say I was surprised when a caseworker called…to ask if my 10-year-old sister, Ryann, could stay with me awhile because the state was taking her from our mother. I didn’t hesitate before saying ‘of course!’”

“Life has not been easy for Kendra,” remarked Nancy Evans. “Being a ‘mother’ to a teenager couldn’t help but have been challenging, considering Kendra was barely out of her own teen years. While Kendra completed her community college degree, she helped Ryann graduate from high school working low wage jobs to provide what every teenager needs.”

When Kendra graduated summa cum laude in 2019 with a bachelor’s degree in human development and family studies, it was a huge accomplishment. “But for Kendra it was just the first step in achieving her goal of working with the underserved populations in her community and state.” wrote Pricilla Nelson. Chapter DQ sponsored Kendra for a Program for Continuing Education grant so she could complete her Master of Social Work program.

Kendra said, “I recognize my calling to work with those who are struggling. While some people see social workers as people who tear families apart; I want to make sure families stay together. I want to give every parent, whether biological, adoptive or relative, the support they need to keep each other healthy and happy.” Kendra credits her mother, a product of a dysfunctional family, as the inspiration for her passion to help others. Kendra remembers her mother’s strong desire for justice and sense of right and wrong. “My mother taught me that even when you don’t have much, there are always those with less.”

Over the years Kendra has volunteered at warming shelters, led community forums and support groups for the mentally ill. As a student, she has worked with small children and those in a nearby nursing home. She proudly remarked, “I like to say my clients range from three to 104.” Upon graduation, Kendra will seek employment with a private agency while donating her services for those without the means for care.

Kendra gives Chapter DQ credit for the confidence to go forward to complete her master’s degree. Kendra told her Chapter DQ sisters, “Just the thought that you would take time from your lives to encourage and help women like me is truly a gift in itself.”

Julia Clark has always been passionate about language as a medium through which people can expand their own conception of the world. Graduating magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa with a B.A. in linguistics from Carleton College, she continued her education at UCLA earning an M.A. in Asian languages and cultures. Julia is currently pursuing her Ph.D. at UCLA. Yalie Kamara

NOMINATING CHAPTER:

DP, Cincinnati, Ohio

SCHOOL: University of Cincinnati

FIELD OF STUDY: creative writing and English

DEGREE: Ph.D.

Reading poems and prose enabled Yalie Kamara to understand the experiences of others and the human condition. While she found incredible pleasure in reading, she felt a growing emptiness, as her own identity was absent from the texts she read. She was raised in a bilingual (Krio and English), bi-tribal (Creole and Temne) and bi-religious (Christian and Muslim) household and has since negotiated this African and African-American upbringing through four languages. She is pursuing a Ph.D. in creative writing and English at the University of Cincinnati, having already earned a B.A. at the University of California, an M.A. at Middlebury College and an M.F.A. at Indiana University. Yalie has received the P.E.O. Sesquicentennial Alice Bird Babb Named Scholar Award.

Established this year by the Board of Trustees of the P.E.O. Scholar Award, and continuing for seven years, this is a Named Award in honor of our Founders. This year, the award honors the talents of Alice Bird Babb who was a gifted writer, public speaker and teacher.

AMAL KILLAWI
NOMINATING CHAPTER: AK, East Brunswick, New Jersey
SCHOOL: Rutgers University

Amal is pursuing a Ph.D. at Rutgers University, after earning a B.A. and master’s in social work at the University of Michigan. She is committed to combining scientific rigor with applied relevance, so she hopes to be employed at a university while continuing her work with communities. Amal has received the Carolyn E. Conway Endowed Scholar Award.

The Carolyn E. Conway Endowed Scholar Award was established in 1996 by Chapter U, Westfield, New Jersey, from the estate of Carolyn E. Conway. Heidi Harris
Missouri

Guided by Each Other, Let us Seek Better Paths

Heidi Harris was given the gift of P.E.O. in 2006 when she was initiated into Chapter DQ, Saint Louis. As an officer, she was honored to be able to initiate first her mother, Joye, and then daughter, Erika, into the chapter. They all enjoyed the short time that they had three generations together!

After studying at Vanderbilt University and completing a B.S. in nursing, she moved to Saint Louis to start her nursing career at Barnes Hospital. Initially a general surgery nurse, she found her passion working in thoracic surgery with the lung transplant patients. Heidi met her husband, Stephen, a Saint Louis native, and they have remained in the area since their marriage in 1989. They have two adult children, Luke and Erika.

Her sense of adventure, love of travel and interest in and acceptance of other cultures were instilled in her by her parents. As a first-generation American and P.E.O., she has been blessed to travel the world and the United States extensively. This led her and her family to open their home to host several foreign exchange students. Serving Missouri as P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship Fund chairman and on the committee for the 2011 Convention of International Chapter in Saint Louis were both natural fits. She also enjoyed working with the hostess group planning the 2017 Missouri State Convention.

You will still find Heidi at her 5 a.m. swim practice. Otherwise, you might catch her cooking, gardening, hiking, reading or enjoying one of many different types of craft projects.

Sherry Erlewine
Nebraska

Shooting Stars! It’s What We Are!

A postcard put Sherry Erlewine on the path to P.E.O. It was an invitation to a pizza party and to learn about Cottey College, sponsored by the Loveland, Colorado, P.E.O.s. That little postcard sure made a BIG difference in Sherry’s life!

Attending Cottey led to finding a job in Yellowstone National Park for two dream-come-true summers. Yellowstone led to Winter Park, Colorado, where her application was accepted by a P.E.O. who noted Cottey and assured Sherry she’d have a job!

At Winter Park, Sherry met her husband, David, who neglected to mention his serious farming habit in Nebraska until after Sherry was totally in love with him! They moved to his family farm in Perkins County and Sherry began teaching with Grant Public Schools. Several of Sherry’s fellow teachers were P.E.O.s and they initiated her into Chapter FU, Grant, in 1997. Imagine Sherry’s surprise upon learning that P.E.O. is SO much more than Cottey!

David and Sherry raised their two children on the farm. Daughter, Stacia, now lives in Maryland, with her husband, Shawn, and their three wonderful children—Alex, Aurora and Makenna. Son, Troy, lives in Winter Park...much to their delight!

This past year blessed Sherry with many "power of the Sisterhood" moments that will live in her heart forever. She wishes to extend her loving thanks to all!
Lisa Weston Blystone

Focusing in on Sisterhood

Lisa Weston Blystone grew up in Rochester, New York. She received a B.S. from the University at Albany and an M.S. from Albany Medical College. She and husband, Scott, moved to Saint Louis. Lisa became a third-generation P.E.O. when she joined Chapter ID in Webster Groves, Missouri, in 1996. Her mom, Joan, and grandmother Helen were members of Chapter U, Rochester. She and Scott have two daughters, Emma and Meg.

In 1998, the family relocated to Syracuse, New York, and Lisa transferred to Chapter AO. She served as recording secretary, president and vice president of Chapter AO and co–chaired New York State Convention in 2011. Later that year, Lisa and six other members of Chapter AO transferred to Chapter AD to help re-vitalize that small chapter. She has been the Unaffiliate Chair for the Central New York Reciprocity, and twice served on the New York State P.E.O. International Peace Scholarship Committee.

Professionally, after many years as a research scientist, Lisa recently began a new career as a clinical research coordinator in pediatrics at Upstate Medical University. She is happy to carpool in every day with Scott, an associate professor at Upstate.

Lisa enjoys photography, gardening, knitting, helping Scott renovate their old farm house, hiking with their dog, Luna, and vacationing in state and national parks.

Fourth generation includes daughters Anne and Laura, and nieces Sara Murray and Ellen Glassmeyer. Sister-in-law Nancy Dean belongs to Chapter BR, San Antonio, Texas. Hopefully a fifth generation will include granddaughters Emma and Cora.

P.E.O. has been a constant in Mary Lou’s life. She was secretary of the steering committee for the 2001 Convention of International Chapter in Milwaukee. She served as P.E.O. Educational Loan Fund state chairman for six years and was Wisconsin’s first executive assistant for 18 years, resigning when a job transfer for BIL, Rick, was in the works. In the end they were able to stay close to family.

Favorite pastimes include sewing, quilting, counted cross-stitch, camping, hiking, cooking and reading. The best of all worlds is spending time with and sharing her love of P.E.O. with her family.

In 2002, Chapter DJ, Houghton, Michigan, was a hostess chapter for state convention. Nancy VanderLinde was state president and her theme was “P.E.O. Is Like a Sampler Stitched in Love and Wrought With Care.”

Chapter DJ’s responsibilities for the convention were hospitality and courtesy. In order to denote the members, the chapter decided to make aprons with a different quilt pattern on each bib. Following the convention, Marvyl Wilson took the aprons home. She thought she would use the bibs to make a quilt for a chapter fundraiser sometime in the future.

Fast forward 2020 and the COVID-19 pandemic. Marvyl was home, she still had the aprons and she decided it was time to take those convention aprons apart and incorporate the bibs into a quilt. In December, she donated the quilt to the chapter to use as a fundraiser. It was decided to hold a raffle; $5 for one ticket and six for $25. All donations were sent to the chapter treasurer and the winner was selected. On February 24, 2021, Judee Binoniemi became the proud winner of the quilt, which represents chapter history, a “labor of love” and a way to stay connected in new and unusual circumstances. The chapter was pleased to receive $550 from member donations for this fundraiser.

As the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic prevented countless meetings and social gatherings for everyone, Chapter DD of Sweet Home, Oregon, planned to undertake a project involving a “Circle Letter” to reach out to the entire membership. A “Circle Letter” is a form of letter-writing that has historically connected a group of people who share common interests and information. They especially wanted to include the non-resident sisters and those without a history of regular meeting attendance.

A coordinator divided the chapter membership into three groups, comprised of eight people. Each group was assigned a different subject prompt for the letter. For example, the prompt for Group A invited each sister to share about a favorite book; Group B, a favorite flower; Group C, the question “In what way has the pandemic changed you?”

A “Circle Letter” is a form of letter-writing that has historically connected a group of people who share common interests and information.

The circle letters were then sent out to the first person on each list. After each sister had composed a short paragraph, the letter was sent on its way to the next person, who added her contribution before posting it onwards. After circulating the letter to all the members, who had penned their responses, the completed letters were shared with the chapter members at a planned outdoor, socially distant meeting. The sisters expressed a lively interest in circulating another round of letters, enthusiastically mentioning their eagerness in receiving the letter!

These circle letters helped the chapter to create and sustain a meaningful connection with each other and brought them all closer together during uncertain times. The letters remind sisters that together we are stronger, our ties of friendship and the deep bonds of sisterly love can carry us through even the most difficult circumstances.
During COVID-19 restrictions, the sisters of Chapter JP in Gig Harbor, Washington, combined old-fashioned creativity, generosity and a genuine desire to get to know each other better (in spite of the roadblock of not being able to meet in person) to come up with a fun and successful fundraiser.

In 2020 everyone found themselves with lots of time to spend at home on hobbies. Reflecting on the phrase “to obtain all possible wisdom ... by the right exercise of any talent we possess,” Chapter JP sisters decided to do exactly that. The chapter opened “The JP Marketplace” where they offered things they made or grew themselves. There were handmade facemasks, homegrown fruits and vegetables, delicious baked goods, fresh evergreen Christmas wreaths, photocards with original photography, hand sewn placemats with matching napkins, holiday crafts from plaid pumpkins to sand-dollar tree ornaments, knitted scarves and hats and children’s mittens, jars of homemade jams, mixed exotic spices, raw honey from a family apiarist, even a handmade quilt. Every month the Ways and Means Chairman updated the marketplace with new items being added. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed delving into creative hobbies and sharing gifts with those who truly valued them. By the end of the year the chapter had raised $4,040!

In 2021, the chapter decided to go one step further—not limiting themselves to things they could make—what about the things they could do? The chapter got to work and started offering services, activities or classes that others would find useful or interesting or just plain fun, often things they would be paying for anyway, but in this case they would volunteer time and the money would go to the chapter.

Gig Harbor is a boating community, so among the most popular offerings are boat rides through the harbor, some with dinner onboard. A trained beautician offered haircuts; some offered rides to or from the airport, dog-walking, babysitting or tutoring. One artistic member taught a small watercolor class, another a yoga class. One sister volunteered to give a short piano concert or provide piano background music for an event. And then there are parties—wine-tasting, a summer barbecue with gourmet ribs, an authentic Italian dinner, a Mexican fiesta and a clam dig with lunch. Some sisters were willing to get their hands dirty and do things such as clean houses, weed gardens, polish silver or plant flowers. Still hesitant to meet in large groups, this plan allows the chapter to socialize in smaller, more intimate groups, often including BILs and often outside, giving everyone a great opportunity to share talents, get to know each other better and have fun doing it. After only two months the chapter made over $800 for P.E.O. projects.

Chapter JP sister Ginger Hess said, “Donating money to the P.E.O. projects is certainly one of our organization’s primary purposes. But not to be forgotten is the friendship that we share as sisters, friends who encourage us to develop our talents and to give of ourselves. This approach to fundraising has really worked for us, fulfilling both those goals, and perhaps it will for your chapter too.”

Kristin Grandy, president of Chapter HE, Jacksonville Beach, Florida, invited her chapter sisters into her home and taught them to paint a Van Gogh–inspired painting. This chapter social was the first time the chapter had gathered with guests (including some grandchildren!) since COVID. Everyone enjoyed a terrific evening of painting, getting to see sisters in person and introducing new friends (and grandchildren) to P.E.O. To top it all off they raised over $400 for the P.E.O. project coffers!
